New $75,000 Packing House For Tustin Assured

START WORK ON PROJECT NEXT WEEK

Construction of a new and ultra-modern $75,000 citrus packinghouse by the Southern Pacific Railway company on the site of the old S.P. depot in Tustin, to meet demands for greater facilities of the Santa Ana-Tustin Mutual Citrus association, is expected to begin the latter part of next week.

This was the announcement today by Leon B. Valla, district freight agent for the Southern Pacific, and Adam J. Theis, manager of the citrus organization.

To Open Bids
Valla told The Register this morning that bids for the contract would be opened early Tuesday, and that officials expected to award the contract the same day, or on Wednesday.

"We have planned that ground will be broken and work on the building start immediately," Valla said, "so that modern machinery, refrigeration units and other equipment may be installed for opening of the new plant on or about May 1. This will be in time for handling the new Valencia crop."

There will be more than 35,000 square feet of floor space in the various sections of the new building, and one of the outstanding features will be the installation of a new pre-cooler system containing 10,800 square feet.

Capital And Labor Meet; Seek Action

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(UP)—Representatives of capital and labor joined today in demanding before the senate committee investigating unemployment that prompt, effective steps be taken to cope with the business recession.

While this hearing was in progress President Roosevelt indicated during a press conference that he would have further conferences concerning the business situation.

Green Demands Action
President William Green of the American Federation of Labor demanded action—"Prompt, immediate and effective—by the congress to meet the recession." President Robert E. Wood of Sears-Roebuck company, who said that he might be described as an "economic loyalist," told the committee that re-

BONDS LINK S. A. IN POLICE QUIZ

Santa Ana police and postal authorities are checking the mystery surrounding $250 worth of "Baby Bonds," post office treasury bonds issued here to Russell Barkley of Marshall, Mich.

Barkley is reported missing and Robert Carmichael, 16, Harrodsburg, Ind., in whose possession the bonds were found, is held in custody in Douglas, Ariz. Santa Ana police are also checking, at the request of Los Angeles police whether or not the car Carmichael was driving is a stolen car.

Carmichael, a high school sophomore, was taken in custody Wednesday night by border inspection officers at Apache, Ariz., on the New Mexico state line, because he had no ownership papers for the car he was driving. No charge has been filed against him.

Taken to the jail at Douglas and searched the bonds were found on Carmichael's person. They had been issued in Santa Ana.

Carmichael told police that he met Barkley in Bloomington, Ind., several days ago. Barkley reportedly asked him to drive one of two cars he had to Santa Ana, where he said that he wanted to establish himself in the fruit packing business. The youth said he "became separated" from Barkley at Fort Worth, Tex.

CHINESE RED ARMY HARASSES JAPANESE

PEIPING, China, Jan. 7.—(UP)—Japanese military authorities admitted today that Chinese Communists had inflicted "frequent losses" among Japanese detachments guarding the Shichuan-chuang-Taiwan railroad in Shan-shi Province.

A Japanese spokesman said that Japanese losses were "inevitable" because the Communists, fighting as the eighth route army of the Central government, attacked points where the rail line was thinly guarded.

The Japanese spokesman said that heavy damage to the railroad had been inflicted by the Communists, including the destruction of bridges and culverts. He hastened to add, however, that the damage had been quickly repaired.

Lining Up for Unemployment Benefits

Waiting patiently in a long shuffling line, these St. Paul, Minn., workmen are seeking to register for unemployment insurance benefits, payment of which is getting under way in 21 states and the District of Columbia. Payment of $500,000,000 in these benefits is a line of self-defense against falling employment which is expected to help curb the business recession.

Ford Says There's No Such Thing As Surplus; Prosperous Era Near

NIPPON TROOPS MAUL BRITONS

SHANGHAI, Jan. 7.—(UP)—British authorities reported today that two British municipal policemen had been beaten by Japanese troops in the latest incident involving Japan's ever increasing aggressiveness in the foreign-controlled International Settlement.

The attack occurred last night on Brennan road, on the extreme western edge of the settlement, where several British troops were killed in the early days of the Japanese campaign against Shanghai.

Officers Maul
A. Turner and F. G. West were the policemen beaten. Turner was mauled when he advised Japanese troops he thought it unnecessary for them to search a certain Chinese civilian. West was beaten when he came to Turner's assistance. Neither was injured seriously.

The attack followed yesterday's protest to Japanese authorities by the settlement municipal police against the alleged manhandling of two other British policemen, G. J. Bennett and J. Sinclair, at the Japanese naval landing barracks on Christmas Day.

Bennett and Sinclair went to the Japanese barracks in response to a Japanese summons and assertion that they had delayed a military messenger. They reportedly were poked in the ribs with sticks and threatened with swords before they were beaten.

PLAN SERVICES FOR MRS. JANET LOWRY

Funeral services for the veteran city employee, Mrs. Janet Wilde Lowry, 38, 332 Normandie place, who died at her home early yesterday, will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday, with the Rev. Perry M. Schrock of the First Congregational church officiating.

Services will be conducted at the Brown and Wagner Colonial funeral chapel. Pallbearers are being chosen today from among Mrs. Lowry's many friends.

Interment following the services will be at Fairhaven cemetery. Mrs. Lowry, wife of Sidney Lowry, foreman in the street and engineering department, was herself employed as secretary in the city engineer's office since August, 1922.

She had been bed-ridden for the past two months.

DEARBORN, Jan. 7.—(UP)—Henry Ford believes America is entering the most prosperous era of its history.

The prosperity he sees will be one in which industry and agriculture are linked by an inseparable bond to banish depression.

This new day, the pioneer automobile manufacturer told the United Press today, "is at hand."

Its keynote will be the use of agricultural by-products in the manufacture of industrial goods.

New Tractor
Its spark-plug, he believes, will be a new tractor which soon will go into mass production at the Ford River Rouge plant. The tractor will be so cheap that every tiller of the soil may buy it.

The time is virtually here, Ford told the United Press, when almost an entire automobile—body, fenders, doors and panels—may be constructed out of wheat chaff, vey beans, corn husks, or other farm by-products.

"This new alliance of agriculture and industry," Ford predicted, "will be the salvation of both. It will produce the greatest period of prosperity the country ever has known."

"And I'll put this thing over if it's the life of me," he added. (Continued On Page 2, Column 5)

HUGE PLANE FORCED DOWN IN HEAVY FOG

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 7.—(UP)—An American Airlines flagship sleeper plane, carrying five passengers, made a forced landing in a marsh early today after missing the landing field at Newark airport.

None of the passengers or crew of three was injured. The ship's undercarriage was damaged, airline officials said.

A heavy fog blanketed the field as Pilot Usher Rouch circled for a landing. Rain and poor visibility caused him to undershoot the field and he was forced to bring the plane down about a mile and a half to the south.

Rouch climbed from the plane and plodded through the mire to the airport to report the accident. He was only able to tell rescuers the general direction of the spot where he was forced down.

FIGHTING MAYOR ATTACKS C. I. O.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 7.—(UP)—The bitter struggle between Mayor Frank Hague and the Committee for Industrial Organization gained new fury today. Hague spoke last night at a rally sponsored by the Jersey City chamber of commerce. His speech was carried over a nation-wide radio hook-up.

He said the C. I. O. represented the "forces of intimidation" that the leaders were Communists who have "marked Jersey City for destruction" and that he would continue to prohibit the organization from existing here.

C. I. O. Answers Challenge
At the conclusion of his speech, Morris Ernst and Dean Spaulding, both acting as special counsel for the C. I. O., spoke over the same radio hook-up in rebuttal.

Addressing Hague directly, Ernst said: "You are a danger to the American people."

REBELS LOSE HOPE OF TAKING TERUEL

HENDAYE, FRENCH-SPANISH FRONTIER, Jan. 7.—(UP)—Guarded reports from Nationalist Spain indicated today that the insurgents had abandoned hope of taking Teruel with present forces and had begun preparations for a long-scale fight in hope that a decisive victory would smash the Loyalist regime.

Both sides reported heavy fighting. But the Loyalists expressed confidence that their lines would hold.

It was said that Generalissimo Francisco Franco was unwilling to sacrifice thousands of lives by frontal assaults on formidable positions held by the Loyalists.

Hence, the information was, if "feeling" attacks—some in considerable force—in the next few days did not succeed, he planned to start an operation similar to that which won him the Bay of Biscay coast. That would mean the massing of his best men, Italians and Moors and Fascist and Carlist militiamen, and a mile by mile advance in close order.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 7.—(UP)—High naval officials today continued to cling to the fast fading hope that a giant patrol bomber, missing for more than 36 hours, would be found with its crew of seven still alive.

The greatest mercy flight in the history of the American navy—covering an area with a radius of 250 miles, and involving practically the entire fleet—was in progress for the fliers who were last reported at 3 p. m. Wednesday when they were 200 miles northwest of Point Loma.

Meantime fleet officers had virtually abandoned hope of rescuing an eighth aviator—Cadet Scott P. Hawkins, of Jefferson City, Mo., who fell from a seaplane attached to the U. S. S. Chicago, while 100 miles at sea.

FIRE DESTROYS SANTA ANA HOME

Fire which razed the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rogers, living on South Bristol two blocks south of Edinger street, early today caused approximately $1400 damage, fire officials reported.

The alarm sounded at 5:27 a. m. today but at that time, the home was in flames, reports said. The state forestry department truck, with Assistant Ranger Rollo Hazeltine and Assistant Driver L. J. Hemphill in charge, and four pieces of fire equipment from Santa Ana headed by Fire Chief John Luxembourger, responded.

Family Escapes
According to preliminary investigation it was believed the fire was caused by an over-heated wood stove in the dining room of the home. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and five or six members of their family were fortunate in escaping injury or death, firemen said. Clad only in night clothing the residents escaped.

Damage to the house, of five or six rooms, was estimated at approximately $800; $400 worth of furniture and approximately $200 worth of clothing and personal belongings were destroyed, according to preliminary survey.

Officers L. H. Nicholson and Ralph Pantuso of Santa Ana police also responded to the alarm and lent assistance.

NEW REVENUE LAW PLANS CONSIDERED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(UP)—House tax experts began today to draft formal recommendations for a new federal revenue law designed to lighten the tax burden of most of the nation's 200,000 corporations.

The house ways and means tax subcommittee completed two months of revision study without changing the rates on individual incomes, big or little. Chairman Fred M. Vinson, D. Ky., believes the changes affecting business will afford definite relief from the hardships and inequities of which it has complained without materially reducing the government's estimated income.

The tax group is in recess now, but its recommendations may be ready for report to the full ways and means committee by the middle of next week.

Wilson's choice for the Berlin post was revealed some time ago when the state department asked the Nazi foreign office for approval of his appointment. William E. Dodd, incumbent ambassador, who had been out of sympathy with the Nazi regime and the state department's policies in Germany, announced that he had resigned several months ago.

SLEEPER RIBS WEST IN REPLY

County Assessor James Sleeper today poked fun at Supervisor N. E. West and his claims of a court-house "ring" and "phantom government," made recently at a Santa Ana forum and elsewhere. The assessor, in a public statement, asked the Laguna Beach supervisor pointed questions about his own official acts.

Sleeper expressed amazement that "it has taken bright boy, N. Elliott West, three years to find out there is and has been a phantom courthouse ring. If he had been elected to congress (as he tried to be), how long would it have taken him to find his way to Washington?" the statement continued.

"Astonished"
The assessor further expressed astonishment that the county has managed to "make the progress it has without his (West's) valuable leadership." As "mouthpiece and boss" of the supervisors, West has "looked after the dear taxpayers' interests" by increasing the county

Williams estimated that at most not more than 25,000 to 30,000 persons now employed would be forced off relief rolls.

Williams said that the separation from W.P.A. rolls must be made by workers "regardless of the amount of money" which they will receive under the benefits.

Some workers will receive minimum unemployment compensation benefits of $5 a week compared with existing W.P.A. wages of $2 to $3 monthly.

Williams' regulation was sent to all state works progress administrators today.

Mrs. Rubens, an American citizen, has been identified as the "Mrs. Donald L. Robinson" who entered Soviet Russia on passports which later proved fraudulent.

State department officials said the request for information on whereabouts of Mrs. Rubens was a continuation of instructions sent to American officials when the Robinson case first became public.

an nation because you age the basic radical of our day, radical in the sense that you are going back on the founding fathers and our bill of rights.

"The fight is on. We are not going to stop until that town is open to the traditions and the folklore of the American people."

The fight began several months ago when the C. I. O. started a unionization drive in Jersey City. Several organizers were arrested, others deported. Those arrested served five days in jail. The state supreme court now is deliberating the propriety of the sentences.

Hague spoke to an estimated 20,000 within the national guard armory, and some 50,000 standing outside the building who heard his remarks over amplifiers. Governor-elect A. Harry Moore, a Hague political protegee, presided.

The mayor, boss of the powerful Hudson county, and state Democratic machines, received thunderous applause as he took the dias.

He attributed formation of the C. I. O. to failure of Communists to gain control of the American Federation of Labor, which was strongly represented at the rally.

cent addresses of Harold L. Ickes, secretary of interior, and Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general, were "calculated to scare business."

Wood, in response to questions by Committee Chairman James F. Byrnes, D. S. C., said, however, that the President's message to congress was "reassuring."

"Business lacks confidence and is scared," he said. "You just take what has happened in the last 10 days. Those speeches were calculated to scare business."

Major factors contributing to business recession, according to Wood, were:

Recession Causes

1. The government's gold sterilization program, which he termed "deflationary."

2. Cessation of government spending at a time when business was unable to "prime the pump" with private capital.

3. Acquisition of large inventories in the spring during threat of labor strikes and inability to move goods.

Green asked the following legislative action:

1. Shortening of the hours of work through maximum hour regulation in industrial employment.

2. Maintenance of existing wage standards.

3. Continuation of the public works program on an extended scale and establishment of administration of public works on a permanent basis.

Extension of Program

4. Extension of the public low-rent housing and slum clearance program by additional appropriation of funds and suspension of requirements for local contributions.

5. Further stimulation of home construction by private enterprise through remission of local taxes.

6. Revision and broadening of the social security program; to provide for a nation-wide system of unemployment-compensation; to extend unemployment and old-age coverage; to provide larger old-age benefits; to lengthen the period in which unemployment benefits are paid.

7. Resumption of the work relief program on an extended scale.

KENNEDY IS NAMED ENVOY TO ENGLAND

Davies, reported dissatisfied with his post in Moscow, has been seeking a transfer. He is an old line Democrat and was offered the ambassadorship to Moscow by President Woodrow, but refused it.

He was chairman and member of the federal trade commission from 1914 to 1918 and in charge of determining the cost of basic war materials from 1916 to 1918.

He practiced law in Washington from 1919 until November, 1935, when he was appointed ambassador to Soviet Russia, succeeding William C. Bullitt who was transferred to the ambassadorship at Paris.

Kennedy, 48, is regarded as the wealthiest man in the Roosevelt administration. If his nomination is approved, he will take to his London assignment a vast experience in negotiation, gained both in government service and in private business.

"Trouble Shooter"

Three major problems affecting both the United States and Great Britain—monetary understandings, war debts and trade treaties—will confront him.

It will be his third important post under Mr. Roosevelt. Early in the New Deal he was first chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission. Then the President named him chairman of the new U. S. maritime commission and entrusted to him the difficult task of reorganizing the American merchant marine.

He has the reputation for being a "trouble shooter" both in government and business. Kennedy reorganized the Paramount Pictures Corporation and frequently advised Mr. Roosevelt on administration business policies.

budget from $1,072,589 in 1936 to $1,490,702 in 1937, a boost of $418,113, the assessor pointed out.

Sleeper then referred pointedly to a "joy ride" by West, when the supervisor, he said, took a county car without authority of the board and then wrecked it, finishing his trip in an airplane, the total cost to the county being about $800.

"Why the hurry? Was it to save the taxpayers' money, or was it to attend a political meeting in the north?" the assessor asked.

"What's the hurry?"

Sleeper further inquired why West was in such a hurry to purchase an $8214.25 power shovel for flood control purposes, "one of the most costly pieces of machinery ever bought by the county," without calling for bids. "After purchasing this machinery, you got cold feet and asked the board to make it an emergency measure—just another one of the taxpayers' savings," Sleeper said, addressing his statement to West.

The statement continued by referring to West's opposition to board "huddles" when he first came on the board. "You were not the boss then, but as soon as you became boss you were P. D. Q. taking advantage of the huddle system," said the statement.

Referring to West's attendance at Harvard university, Sleeper signed his statement: "James Sleeper, county assessor; not a Harvard graduate, but a graduate of a gang plow and Old Mother Earth."

FROZEN FRUIT TRIAL IS SET FOR MONDAY

Second trial of Ed Mills and Jerry Miller, Anaheim packing house managers, charged with packing frozen fruit is scheduled for Monday morning in Anaheim justice court with Justice D. T. Hayden, of Tustin, presiding. It was announced today by Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe, prosecutor in the case.

McCabe arrived home yesterday from a Christmas holiday visit in Colorado and Kansas City, and announced himself ready to lay the frozen fruit case before another Anaheim jury.

Case Reviewed

The jury at the first trial disagreed, and McCabe subsequently moved the presiding judge, Justice Charles Kuchel, of Anaheim, to disqualify himself, a motion which Justice Kuchel granted. Justice K. E. Morrison then was appointed by the state judicial council to hear the case, but later withdrew. Justice Hayden then was designated.

The motion to disqualify Justice Kuchel was based upon McCabe's contention that the judge's nephew, Assemblyman Thomas Kuchel had acted on the case as attorney on behalf of Mills.

SEARCH FOR BOMBER CONTINUED BY NAVY

Today the navy had approximately 175 planes making a systematic search of the ocean in the vicinity where the patrol bomber disappeared. On the surface at least 70 warships sped back and forth seeking some trace of the missing plane and men—or wreckage which would indicate the fate of the craft and its crew.

Thus far the search which gained momentum over night, has failed to discover so much as a single shattered spar, or patch of oil which could be connected with the craft piloted by Lieut. Truman E. Carpenter, of Portsmouth, N. H.

"The largest seaplane is only a small, almost invisible bar on the surface of the Pacific and it might be easily overlooked," Capt. Alva D. Bernhard, chief of staff to Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, commander of aircraft, scouting force, said.

"Fog in certain areas yesterday impeded the search."

Today, as additional planes hurried off the decks of the giant carriers, U.S.S. Lexington and Saratoga, to join the hunt, lowering clouds again threatened to hamper the mercy hunt with rain.

It was the Lexington which last summer raced across the Pacific to make an intensive but futile search for Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan, lost near Howland island, on a proposed round-the-world flight.

Many of the same flying officers who searched for Miss Earhart were taking part in the far more extensive and intensive hunt today.

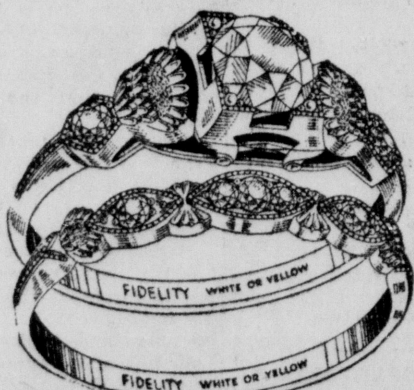

Miss Sarah Glenn Is Safe In China

Safety of Miss Sarah Glenn, Santa Ana, who has been engaged in missionary work in China for seven years, was assured today by a report directed to Thomas Glenn, English head at Santa Ana junior college. She had been in the war zone.

For some time no word arrived of Miss Glenn's whereabouts but recently Professor Glenn was assured by letter that Miss Glenn, his sister, had arrived in Shanghai.

DUCE RUSHES PLANS FOR NEW WAR SHIPS

ROME, Jan. 7.—(UP)—Italy intends to start immediately on construction of two $5,000-ton battleships, 12 scout ships and "considerable numbers" of submarines, it was announced today.

It was Premier Benito Mussolini's answer to the building programs of France and Great Britain.

Thus Italy will have building four 35,000-ton battleships of latest type. The battleships Littorio and Vittorio Veneto, laid down late in 1934, were launched last summer. They were to have been completed before the end of 1938.

FORD SAYS THERE'S PROSPERITY AHEAD

smiling. Ford, vibrant with visions of the future based on his dream of farm and factory cooperation, led the way through immaculate laboratories.

On the glazed floor Ford drove the new tractor, never before seen by an outsider.

To him it was far more than a tractor. It was a magic Sesame to a new life. Through this mechanical simplicity he saw the means of putting agriculture on a paying basis.

"The high cost of tools and equipment is one of the farmer's greatest difficulties now," he said. "He can barely purchase what he needs—prices are too high—and, as for the man returning to the farm to start again, it is virtually hopeless."

No Overproduction
But what of overproduction on the farm? Hasn't the country been plagued by farm surpluses? What of the campaign to plough under?

To Henry Ford, there is no such thing as a surplus. The pressure of the surplus, he believes, will force us to discover new uses for the annual produce of the soil.

"Our laboratories are at work now," he said, "on plans to use chemurgic products in more and more parts of the car. Only a few more experiments are necessary until we have perfected this product until it will withstand a shock as well as steel."

HEARING DATE SET

Preliminary hearing for Charles Boyden, 37, resident of a local hotel, was charged with slander in a complaint signed by G. W. Bowles, Los Angeles, was set today for next Monday, 10 a. m. Boyden was released after furnishing $500 bail.

YOUTHS FACE HEARING

Preliminary hearing for Danny DeSoto and Howard Stoughton, local youths, charged with burglarizing the home and garage of Dr. J. M. Burlew, 1015 North Broadway, was set today by Justice Kenneth Morrison as Jan. 10 at 10 a. m. Police still are investigating the case in an effort to uncover further evidence.

WARRANTS OUT FOR AUTOISTS

The "influx" of illegal parkers to City Judge J. G. Mitchell's court will begin at once, it was revealed today by police officials who have been waging a campaign against traffic congestion in the city for several weeks with use of two officers, a motorcycle and sledge.

Two dozen arrest warrants were in the hands of Officers Richard M. Bradley and Tom Kinney today, to be served at once. All charges failure to appear in city court to answer illegal parking, chiefly overtime parking, charges.

J. W. Beach, 41, 409 North Broadway, had the questionable honor of being the first man arrested in connection with the "congestion campaign." He appeared at city hall in answer to a summons, was arrested by Assistant Chief Harry Fink, went into court and paid a $3 fine for overtime parking. Dozens of other warrants will be issued and served soon upon illegal parking delinquents, police said.

C. OF C. SOON TO NAME GROUP IN U. S. CAMPAIGN

Members of the "What Helps Business" committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce today are awaiting appointment of a committee of five members to formulate a definite program for restoring public confidence in business.

Members of the committee met yesterday at the chamber of commerce and authorized Chairman

Rodney Bacon to appoint the committee which will formulate a program and report back at the next meeting of the organization.

To "Adjust" Opinion

It was the unanimous opinion of all members of the special committee that business has looked on and waited for time to correct present conditions. The time has now arrived when business must do something to correct the opinion that it is to blame for every social wrong, they decided.

The local program will be a part of a nation-wide plan being sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce to increase public confidence in business and the American system.

Secretary Howard I. Wood of the Santa Ana chamber today was notified that within a short time 12,147 outdoor advertising boards will display the slogan "What Helps Business Helps You." These boards will be installed in every city of 5000 population or more. It has been indicated that the local campaign will follow the lines of the national program and will include a speaker's bureau and general education program.

MRS. LOCKWOOD HONORED

Mrs. Ethel M. Lockwood, the instructor in Creative Writing in both Lathrop and Willard Evening High schools, has again received national recognition in the writing field. She has been asked to do the lead article in the Writer's Year Book for 1938. Her subject will be Bridging the Gap Between Pulp Magazines and Smooth Paper Magazines.

Since 1900, the United States has purchased from foreign countries more than 2,242,700 square miles of territory, for which it has paid $32,500,000.

BOARD FROWNS ON BRIDGE PLAN

SEAL BEACH, Jan. 7.—This city will not endorse any plan to remove the Ocean avenue bridge built, under terms of the four-party agreement, over the entrance to Alamitos channel, in a proposed plan to develop Alamitos bay as a yacht harbor, it developed here at city council meeting Thursday night. The suggestion to remove the bridge, made by Major Theodore Wyman Jr., United States district engineer, was read into council records by City Attorney Burr A. Brown in a report of a public hearing attended by Mayor Elmer J. Hughes, City Engineer Victor W. Hayes and Brown.

Definite Action Delayed

That the bridge lies entirely within the city limits of Seal Beach was pointed out by Hayes. Removal of the bridge would cut this city off from one direct line to Long Beach, would require the removal of the Pacific Electric bridge and track and would remove the auxiliary water supply, it was indicated. Definite action was deferred until next meeting.

With plans and specifications for the proposed wing jetty adjoining the existing jetty at the west bank of Anaheim Bay channel ready, a bid call was authorized as soon as a permit can be obtained from the State Division of lands.

Delinquent Bills Drop

Delinquent water bills at a total of $199 on January 1 are the lowest they have been since October, 1932, according to City Water Superintendent C. A. Miller. Building valuations for 1937 show a 57½ per cent increase over 1936, with $238,593, as against $37,925 of a year ago.

4 Injured When Car, Truck Crash

Still unconscious today after an accident at Placentia avenue and East Center streets, Anaheim, shortly before midnight last night, Arthur Trujillo, 20, of 729 Soldano street, Azusa, is in a serious condition at the Orange county hospital with a punctured lung, fractured shoulder, and possible internal injuries.

Others injured in the accident who are in the county hospital are: Braulio Castro, 27, also of Azusa, Mrs. Minnie Chesser, 62, Cleveland, Ohio, and her daughter, Mrs. Inez James, 33, Cleveland.

The accident occurred when a truck, in which the injured men were riding, collided with the Cleveland car, driven by William James senior, who with his son and daughter, William Jr., and Georgia, escaped uninjured.

Mrs. Chesser and the James family were enroute to visit Mrs. Owen Moringo, of 915 North Orizaba, Long Beach, when the accident occurred.

P.-T. A. BOARD TO MEET

The McKinley school P.-T. A. executive board will meet at the home of Miss Gertrude Potts, 635 North Ross Santa Ana next Wednesday night at 7 p. m. it was learned today. A luncheon will be served.

"$100 CAR" IS S. A. MAN TRAP

The moral to this story is, do not tell a traffic officer you paid $100 for a $600 automobile unless you expect to be questioned thoroughly.

Sam Malone, 46, who gave his address as Miami Beach, Fla., may realize that today, from his cell in the county jail.

The second moral is, do not have a near-accident in the presence of officers if you are driving a stolen car. Malone admitted he was driving a stolen car, according to assertions of police.

Stopped With Questions

He was driving at First and Main streets yesterday afternoon when he assertedly nearly struck a man with his car. Officers B. A. Hershey, Charles Neer and Chet Gross stopped Malone and began to question him. Brakes of the car were faulty, they reported. Malone, with little identification in the car, explained he purchased the car from a friend three days ago for $100. Police doubted that.

Later, according to officers who escorted Malone to police headquarters, he admitted he was picking produce on a ranch 20 miles south of Bakersfield with Horace Dunn of Colorado and slipped away with the car and Dunn's overcoat when Dunn was absent. Two hitch-hikers who rode from Los Angeles with Malone left Malone when they arrived here because "we were scared of those brakes," they said. Malone is held on car theft charge.

County Elks Plan Safety Campaign

Carrying out the program inaugurated by Grand Exalted Ruler Charles Spencer Hart, Santa Ana, Orange and Anaheim lodges of Elks will sponsor a series of radio "Safety" programs over a local radio station.

According to Harold Brown, exalted ruler of the Santa Ana lodge, the first program will be broadcast at 7 p. m. Monday. Additional programs will be broadcast at the same time each Monday night.

On the first broadcast, Grand Exalted Ruler Hart will speak briefly and Capt. Henry Meehan of the California highway patrol, will deliver the local address. Music will be by the Chanters of Los Angeles lodge of Elks.

EMPLOYER ACCUSED

Charged with failing to pay a girl employe two weeks' wages, Leroy Barker, 32, fishing barge operator at Huntington Beach, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Bob Steinberger and booked at county jail. He was specifically charged with violating section 201 of the state labor code.

ORCHESTRA IN REHEARSAL

WESTMINSTER, Jan. 7. — The Westminster Community orchestra, which was organized last fall by Paul Beatty, teacher in Westminster school, resumed rehearsals this week. The group will hold a meeting each Tuesday evening at the school. The club is now working on music which will be presented as an opening feature for the Midway City Woman's club amateur hour performance.

BUILDERS PLAN ANNUAL DINNER

Installation of officers, entertainment, and "Ladies' Night" will be the features of the annual meeting of the Orange County Builders' Exchange at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday at the American Legion hall in Orange. It was announced today by Goodrich W. Bassett, manager of the exchange.

Donald Beach Kirby, of Balboa, will be inducted as president of the organization for the ensuing year. George Young of Santa Ana is the retiring president.

Following the dinner, Ray Taylor, of the Southern California Edison company, program chairman for the evening, will present the Junior college string trio, a group of radio entertainers. A four-piece orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Janette Martin will supply music for dancing that will follow the entertainment. Cards will furnish the entertainment for those who do not dance.

GUESTS ENTERTAINED

LIBERTY PARK, Jan. 7. — Guests from the states of Washington and Oregon have been entertained this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mills Cowling. The Washington visitors were Mrs. Alfred Osburn and son, Floyd Osburn of Blainingham, and Mrs. Fred McIntire, daughter, Gladys and a grandson were here from Roseburg, Ore. The Washington guests are returning to their home while the McIntire party went to Newport Beach, their former home.

JAYSEE GIRL STUDENT TAUGHT GRAMMAR CLASS IN IOWA TOWN

Teaching at the age of 19 in a consolidated grammar school in West Bend, Iowa, has been the experience of Kathryn Dyke, 22-year-old Santa Ana junior college student.

Following her graduation from Iowa State Teachers' college at Cedar Falls, Miss Dyke immediately stepped into a kindergarten teacher's role at the West Bend school.

"It was all grand fun," she said, "even though I had a comparatively large class of more than two dozen children of five to six years old. I often had to give them two-week vacations during the winter because of the heavy snowstorms."

Special Student Here

"The district school of 300 students included all grades from kindergarten to the last year of high school. Sixteen teachers constituted the staff, some of them holding two positions, such as the principal who also taught one of the junior high school grades," Miss Dyke stated. "The town of West Bend has a population of about 800."

Enrolled as a special student here, the ex-teacher plans to enter U. C. L. A. next semester and obtain her Bachelor of Arts degree so she may continue her teaching career.

Miss Dyke now is living at 1318 South Ross street, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Dyke, moved from West Bend. Her teaching was discontinued because of the trip to California.

ORANGE PARK ACRES

ORANGE PARK ACRES, Jan. 7.

Among the non resident ranch owners who visited their places recently were Mr. and Mrs. J. Sonnenman and a party of friends, Max Jenke, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anders, Mr. Spillane and mother, J. L. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Vieira, all of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Baum and family, of South Gate; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Brown, of Compton; F. M. Bernard and family, of Long Beach, and Mr. LaBelle and family, of Yorba Linda.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rinehart and son Billy of Santa Ana, visited at the M. D. Sheeley ranch for several days. The Rineharts lived in their house trailer during their stay.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Smith, of Detroit, Mich., inspected their eight acre avocado grove here during the past week. The Smiths motored out and expect to spend a month at Laguna Beach. Mr. Smith's sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Dean, and her daughter, of Hollywood, are spending a week in their house trailer on the grove. The large eucalyptus grove on County Park road is being cut down. Mr. Marcy, the owner, says he is going to pull the stumps and turn it into agricultural land.

Stamp News

By C. W. Clarke

Virgin Islands

On December 15th the Virgin Islands stamp was placed on sale at Charlotte Amalie. The sale for that day totaled 415,045 stamps and 255,469 covers cancelled on that date. The following day at the Philatelic agency 667,919 Virgin Islands stamps were sold.

In the last of four Possession issues the following was the number sold.

Hawaii first day sale of stamps $34,971. First day Hawaii covers $29,324. Stamps sold at Washington, D. C. $28,365.

Alaska first day sale of stamps $35,550. First day Alaska covers $30,370. Stamps sold at Washington, D. C. $27,536.

Puerto Rico first day sale of stamps $43,577. First day Puerto Rico covers $44,054. Stamps sold at Washington, D. C. $39,326.

Virgin Islands first day sale of stamps $415,054. First day Virgin Islands covers $225,469. Stamps sold at Washington, D. C. $67,919.

This places Hawaii first in first day stamp sales. Puerto Rico second, Virgin Islands third and Alaska last.

In covers Hawaii first, Puerto Rico second, Alaska third and Virgin Islands last.

In stamp sales at Washington, D. C., Hawaii first, Virgin Islands second, Puerto Rico third and Alaska last.

These figures prove what we said several weeks ago. The larger the population the more stamps sold. In the future Hawaii mint stamps will be the hardest to find because more were used but with 75,000,000 of each issue printed one need not worry much for a few years about getting these pretty stamps.

The Stamps of Vatican City

The serious illness of Pope Pius XI is today attracting the attention of the entire world and in glance at some of the postal issues of Vatican City may well be of timely interest. It was the bold and able diplomacy of the present pope that in 1929 restored to the Vatican its ancient status as an independent political state and incidentally gave it the privilege of issuing its own postage stamps as distinguished from those of the Kingdom of Italy.

Vatican City is only one-half square mile in area and probably has the distinction of being the smallest stamp-issuing government in the world.

Costa Rican Airmails

Costa Rica, the most prosperous and peaceful country in Central America, has issued a series of three airmail stamps in connection with its First Annual Fair. The design shows an airplane flying over a mountain range and a striking diamond-shaped format that recalls some of the postal issues of Tannou Touva. The values are 1c gray black, 2c black brown, and 3c purple.

Some Famous Stamp Collectors

President Franklin D. Roosevelt started stamp collecting as a boy, and has maintained his interest in it unabated ever since. Throughout the busy years of his active public life the President has found his collection a continual source of pleasure and has frequently turned to it for relaxation. "I can almost say," he stated, after an illness, "that I owe my life to my hobbies—especially stamp collecting."

From Mr. Roger Babson

"To encourage stamp collecting is to render a real educational and social service. I say this for two reasons. First, stamp collecting is not only an excellent stimulus to learning geography and other subjects, but it also furnishes the fundamentals for a business training. Second, I believe that people not only have in stamp collecting a legitimate form of investment, but also that it gives them an interest in foreign countries which they might not otherwise acquire."

For years Mr. Babson has been nationally known for the accuracy of his business forecasts, and his carefully considered opinion on the merits of stamp collecting as a hobby for young and old is reproduced as one example of how many prominent business men regard this great pastime.

Charles Lathrop Pack

As National Conservation Commissioner under President Theodore Roosevelt and as organizer of the National War Garden Commission under President Wilson, Charles Lathrop Pack became known throughout the country as a recognized authority on forestry and economics. As a member of the Collectors Club of New York and the Royal Philatelic Society of London, he was no less distinguished for his remarkable collection of Australian and New Zealand postage stamps. Although he began stamp collecting over 66 years ago, Mr. Pack was one of the hobby's most active and enthusiastic supporters.

The Lebanon Mountains

Airmail stamps have recently been issued by the Lebanese Republic for the purpose of attracting tourists to the beautiful summer resorts in the Lebanon Mountains. On the 1p red orange, 3p yellow green, 10p red brown, and 15p deep red appears a summer view of the Bay of Djounie, where the mountains, terraced with mulberry trees, olive groves and vineyards, slope downward to the Mediterranean.

The historic Lebanon range extends northward from the low hills of Galilee to the lofty, snow-covered peaks in the vicinity of Beirut which are much frequented by enthusiastic skiers from the foreign colonies. This typically Alpine scenery, shown on the 0.50p dark green, 2p slate blue, 5p lake and 25p green may seem a bit startling to those who have always imagined Palestine to be a hot and barren desert country with occasional oases of tropical luxuriance. The dark evergreens in the background remind us that the pines and cedars of Lebanon are said to be the oldest of living things and have been famous since Biblical times, when King Solomon had large quantities of lumber rafted from Tyre to Joppa to use in building the Great Temple of Jerusalem.

The Caribou

The caribou, a fine specimen of which is seen on the 5c Newfoundland stamp is none other than the strong, patient animal which is popularly supposed to draw the sleigh of St. Nicholas every Christmas. Reindeer are really domesticated caribou. They inhabit the bleak snow covered plains of the Arctic Circle and are the only animals, with the exception of one or two breeds of dogs, which can endure seven or eight months of extreme cold. Unlike its graceful cousins of the deer family, the caribou is a clumsily built animal with large spreading hoofs and a homely, bewhiskered muzzle. In spite of its ungainly appearance, however, it is of prime importance to the millions of people who live in the icy northland from Kamchitka to meat, milk and hide, but also because it can be trained as a draught or pack animal and in Siberia is actually ridden like a horse.

Any question dealing with stamps will be gladly answered if addressed to this paper.

Building Work At Seal Beach Gains

SEAL BEACH, Jan. 7.—With an estimated valuation of $138,593 for building during the year 1937, construction in this city shows an increase of 57.1-2 per cent over the 69.9 per cent gain of the year 1936, according to reports compiled today by City Building Superintendent C. A. Miller. Total valuation in 1936 was $87,925, with the December figure, $1260, as against $4710 for the same month this year.

That the past year's total is mostly the result of residential building either single dwellings, apartments, or apartment courts, was further disclosed in an analysis of the figures. The growing population is also reflected in the school, which has broken all attendance records. Last year's record resulted from the construction of about 12 homes, with the balance in business buildings.

Work Is Started On New School At San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE, Jan. 7.—Soil tests have been made this week preparatory to breaking ground for the new School of Applied Mathematics. Work on the foundation of the building is expected to begin within a few days by Strang Brothers company. The plans have been drawn by Manfred DeAlma, Laguna Beach architect.

As a business-like basis for the institution, papers of incorporation have been filed in the names of Arvilla M. Redfern and Edna Mantor, founders of the school, and George T. Kaye, business manager. Mr. Kaye, formerly of Long Beach, came to San Clemente with the founders of the school and is official usher at its lectures. Miss Edna Mantor made the above announcements before the Wednesday evening lecture.

Miss Mantor lectures for a group in Long Beach every Thursday evening and in Santa Ana Tuesday evenings.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 7.—(UP)—Establishment of a Marine Park to encompass the waters of Biscayne Bay will be sought in the Florida legislature this spring.

A bill already has been drafted and will be introduced at the session, according to Donald L. McCarthy, executive secretary of the Miami Beach Rod and Reel club. Fishing with rod would be permitted throughout the proposed park and the proposal envisages improved facilities for anglers.

"The waters surrounding Miami Beach, which in reality is an island flanked by the Atlantic and Biscayne Bay, are among the most unusual in the world," McCarthy said. "The U. S. Bureau of Fisheries has identified 653 varieties of fish in Florida area to date and all of them probably can be found in this restricted area."

The Marine Park would embrace both the upper and lower bays. It would be 12 miles long and 3 miles wide. Commercial fisheries nets within the bay or its approaches would be forbidden as would all other types of market fishing. The bill would call for the establishment of a boat patrol, the removal of unnecessary obstructions blocking or diverting natural fish channels and rigid protection against pollution. Provision would be made for the ultimate establishment of a guide service to show and instruct visitors in the many aspects of marine life within the bay and its outlets to the sea and inlets from the Everglades.

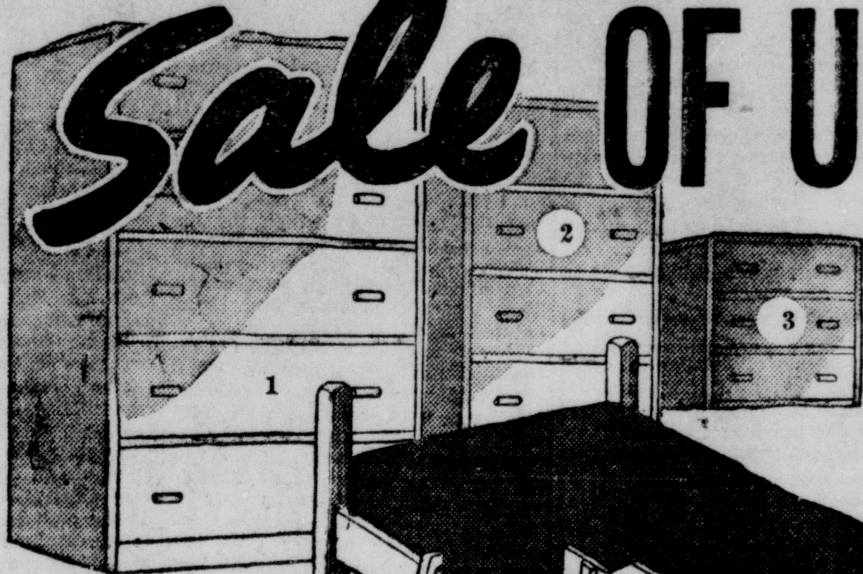

Of the species of fish found in the bay or in the ocean, the best known are the Gulf Stream game fish such as snappers, blue and white marlin, albacore, blue fin tuna, the rare but highly prized albacore or yellow tuna, the bonito and dolphin. They follow the Gulf Stream, some 35 miles wide here, and are most successfully caught along its edges, one of which is 2 1/2 to 3 miles off Miami Beach.

ENVOY BITTER: PREDICTS WAR

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—(UP)—William E. Dodd, retiring United States ambassador to Germany, returned on the liner Washington last night, bitter against dictatorships and convinced that war will be the logical outcome of the world argument race.

Dodd, who resigned two weeks ago after 4 1/2 years' service, said that he would submit his final report to the state department in Washington on Monday. Then, as a former University of Chicago history professor, he will make a lecture tour of the country.

The ambassador said that a new order of government had spread "from Rome to Tokyo," and that all the nations of the world, he said, had violated the treaties of 1919-1923 and twice as much money was being spent in preparing for another war as was being spent in 1913.

Dodd told newspapermen that he doubted if any American envoy who held his ideals of democracy could represent the United States successfully in Germany today. He said that "I did the best I could."

He defended his refusal to attend the Nazi party congress at Nuremberg, Germany, at which he said democracy was ridiculed and attacked, but would not discuss reports that his resignation had resulted from the state department's failure to support his position.

Freeze Recovery

Speakers for the afternoon were James Cook of the California Fruit Growers exchange and Albert H. Kirchmann of the Orange County exchange. Cook stated that one of the outstanding achievements of the past season was the manner in which the industry survived the damaging freeze, with the crop being handled and marketed in good shape. The local exchange, he said, showed a 50 per cent recovery.

Kirchmann gave statistics concerning the local situation. Total shipments through the exchange this past year, he said, were 1810 cars, 1230 of these being oranges and 530 lemons. This was 45 per cent below last year on oranges, with the returns only 11 per cent less, while on lemons the shipments were 33 per cent less and returns were 33 per cent less.

Urges Advertising

He urged the use of advertising as a means of marketing the coming crop and the development of export markets to relieve the domestic market.

Touching on the labor problem, he said that some labor trouble was anticipated for the coming season, but that public sentiment is rapidly growing against the organizers and that growers must keep informed and take organized action to prevent serious labor troubles here.

SPORTS WHIRLIGIG

Another reason why "Tex" Oliver may not go to Oregon even if the job were offered him: The top pay is $5500 and the state legislature has a law forbidding any contract to be made for more than a year. Incidentally, Coach Oliver and J. F. MacKall, Arizona's director of athletics, were in Los Angeles for two days early this week. . . . If Oliver goes to Oregon, or anywhere else, U. S. C. may lose a good assistant coach. Hobbs Adams and Jeff Cravath both would like to step out for themselves one of these days. Bill Cook is another who wouldn't mind living in Tucson. . . .

Santa Ana jaysee is getting some good breaks. The Dons are playing the Southern California frosh at Pan-Pacific auditorium Feb. 11 (Friday) and that's the same night the S. C. varsity meets Hank Luisetti and Stanford. The Dons have won something like 67 consecutive games. . . .

Los Angeles sports writers tramped Henry McLemore of the United Press and Art Cohn, the militant Oakland typewriter-thumper (formerly of Long Beach) into a near fist-fight before the Rose Bowl game. They ribbed the boys into believing each had sworn to slug the other on sight. . . .

The Santa Ana Tennis club has postponed until next month its 1938 election of officers. This might as well be a permanent postponement because the present set of officials ought to hold over anyway. . . . Track practice will not be undertaken seriously at Santa Ana until February. Coach "Pinky" Greene has a pair of good sprinters (Jerome Duffy and Wayne Piper) coming up from the Class B team, as well as the Southland's champion "B" high-jumper in Wendell Tedrow, who soared 6:1 7-8 last year. . . .

Despite its best about being robbed at the Rose Bowl last season, San Bernardino jaysee is going back for more. The Indians meet Pasadena Sept. 23, one week after Santa Ana plays in the Arroyo Seco. Pasadena also has scheduled Chaffey, Glendale, Long Beach, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Compton, and will bring either San Mateo or Modesto down from the north. . . . Davis Walsh of L.N.S. writes that the Bill DeCortovont case has Trojan officials in a dither. The boy has been publicized so highly that the school that gets him will come in for more than its share of abuse as a proselytizer—and S. C. isn't so sure that it wants that kind of a reputation. . . .

Bill Cook has an idea. "I wonder how Co. Leivermann (6:6) and that new boy, George Van Liew (6:8) would look as ends for the Dons next fall?" he asks. Fair to middlin' as pass-receivers, Andrew. . . . Coach Ted Shipkey of New Mexico wants "Rusty" Roquet, the big Don tackle, but who doesn't? . . . Lon Stiner, coach of Oregon State, will be in town next week for a heart-to-heart talk with Dick Tauber, muchly underrated jaysee guard. . . . Norman Burbridge, who moved into Fullerton jaysee last fall, is having scholastic troubles like those that beset Elmer Wagers, Orange's two-flat half-miler of '36 after he went to Fullerton. . . .

An item of interest to Citrus Belt league pigskin-spinners comes out of San Bernardino which announces that Ralph Simpson will succeed Norm Fawley as football coach next fall. Fawley will be in charge of basketball instead. . . . The Trojans had better make up their minds on Carl Benson or the Dons' all-conference guard of '36 will be making up his mind to enroll at Arizona or somewhere. Are you listenin' Al Wesson? . . .

The Western division of the Southern Cal Jaysee association will have a "roving" football schedule next season and will not recognize an official champion. Maybe that's just as well, considering the terrible way the Western division has been treated by the Eastern in intra-conference games. However, the Western league will continue to keep standings—"but only as a matter of record." Tsk, tsk. . . .

The night before the Alabama-California Rose Bowl game, Paul Burnam, assistant Tide coach, was talking to Jeff Cravath in Burnam's room at the Vista del Arroyo hotel. The two men were discussing team discipline when Burnam glanced at his watch. It was 5:50. "I'll give you an illustration of the discipline we have at Alabama," Burnam said. "I'll bet you $100 to $1 every member of the Alabama football squad is in his place, seated at the table for dinner at 6 o'clock sharp." Cravath accepted post haste. It

BLACK DRAGON FLOPS CARTER ON WILD CARD

Wrestling fans who like their shows rough and tough left the Orange County Athletic club with a feeling that "all is well with the world" last night. They had the opportunity of sitting in on one of the wildest shows that have been staged at the highway arena in many a moon. Reports from the janitor, at an early hour this morning was to the effect that a bushel-basket of fingernails had been swept off the floor. They had been felt there by excited fans who stood on their seats biting their nails. . . .

In the "finish" main main event, Black Dragon, the masked man who knows all the answers in a rough house brawl, defeated Marshall Carter. Dragon took the first fall in 12:40 minutes with a Boston crab after pulling a handful of hair from Carter's head and tossing it to the fans. He precipitated a near riot when fans grabbed his feet and attempted to manhandle him. Referee "Bill" Montana saved the Dragon and the day--or night. . . .

The second fall went to Carter in 4:20 with a series of rope kicks, off to left the masked one flat on the canvas. Dragon took the third and deciding fall in 11:32 when Carter again attempted a series of rope kicks. After the second kickoff the Dragon held on to the ropes and let Carter drop to the canvas to be tied in another Boston Crab. . . .

Carter was still screaming "taint right" and jumping up and down in the middle of the ring when the lights were turned out. In the semi-windup "Wild Red" Berry of Kansas conquered rough and willing Pete Belcastro in straight falls, taking the first in 12:28 with an Indian Death Grip and using the same hold to take the second fall in 13:11. . . .

In the preliminaries Phil Romano defeated Frankie Hill in straight falls and Al Wescott pinned Larry Tillman of Garden Grove in the eye-opener. . . .

ARMSTRONG TO COACH OREGON?

SALT LAKE CITY—(UP)—Ike Armstrong, for 13 years coach of football at Utah university, said today he was considering a proposition to take up the same position at the University of Oregon next year as successor to Prince Callison. . . .

"I am greatly interested in the proposition," Armstrong said. "I hope details can be worked out satisfactorily." He said he made no formal application for the Oregon post but that he talked over the matter here Wednesday with Anson Cornell, director of athletics at Oregon. . . .

Armstrong's contract with Utah expires July 1. Officials at Utah said "Ike can have a new contract if he wants it." . . .

Utah teams, under Armstrong, have won 66 Rocky Mountain conference games, lost 10 and tied three. . . .

DON BUDGE DEFEATS BROMWICH, 6-4, 8-6

MELBOURNE—(UP)—Donald Budge of California defeated Jack Bromwich of Australia today in a match of the triangular tennis tourney involving Germany, Australia and the United States. Scores were 6-4, 8-6. In another match Henner Henkel of Germany defeated Adrian Quist of Australia, 2-6, 11-3, 6-2. . . .

Henkel and his Davis cup teammate, Baron Gottfried von Cramm, scored a 6-4, 6-1, 6-3 victory over the U. S. Davis Cup duo, Budge and Gene Mako. . . .

Hank Luisetti Makes Mates Quit 'Feeding' Him As He Sets Record

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD (NEA Service Sports Writer)

Angelo Luisetti didn't realize he was shattering the world's scoring record for a single basketball game until it suddenly dawned on him that the stream of substitutes coming in from the Cardinal bench were performing in a rather strange manner. . . .

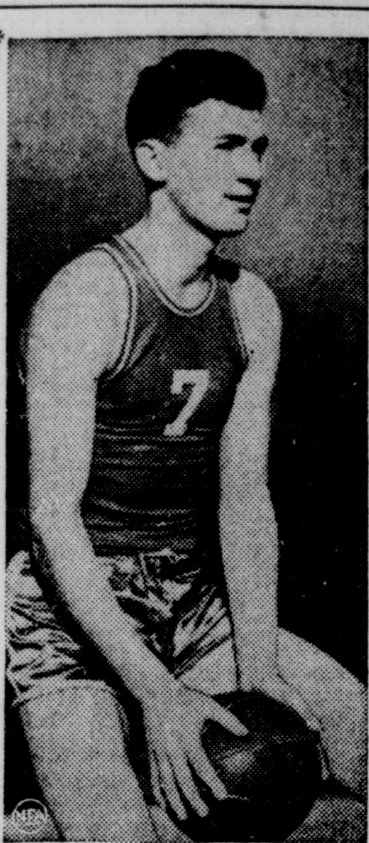

Stanford was playing Duquesne in Cleveland in the last game of its Eastern trip, and was enjoying a healthy lead of some 50 points. Angelo, who is known more familiarly as Hank, knew he had tossed quite a few field goals. Just how many he didn't know. . . .

Then it was that Captain Hank noticed that replacements were trying to pass the ball to him at every opportunity. In fact they tried too hard. They found themselves tightened up. Passes went wild. Captain Hank took time out to find out why, and, sheepishly, they told him. . . .

Luisetti tossed 35 points in the first half, and the world record for a single game was 41. So Coach John Bunn gave orders to "feed" the lanky sharpshooter until he had racked up all the points he could get. But Hank was too much of a team player for that. He ordered his mates to shoot whenever they got an open shot. Ordered is hardly the word. He screamed at them. Fairly pleaded with them. . . .

Yet when the evening's work was done, Luisetti had scored the Stanford routed the Dukes, 92-27. There is little doubt that Luisetti is the greatest college player ever developed. Bunn, who has seen plenty of basketball in his day, would rave for hours about the slim Italian youth of San Francisco, but finds that words can't describe him. . . .

"He's perfectly balanced," says Bunn. "His co-ordination is remarkable. He never makes a false move. That one-handed shot of his can't be stopped by anyone, and he lets it fly from anywhere on the floor. What's more, he's a great team leader, and a marvelous floor man. He could 'play on our team if he never scored a point." . . .

Stanford's score mounts when Hank Luisetti gets his hands on the ball and faces the basket. He scored 50 points in 38 minutes against Duquesne in Cleveland for a new world individual record.

move. That one-handed shot of his can't be stopped by anyone, and he lets it fly from anywhere on the floor. What's more, he's a great team leader, and a marvelous floor man. He could 'play on our team if he never scored a point." . . .

They are toasting two fillies today at Santa Anita—Brown Jade, the whirlwind California-bred which galloped to a smashing victory yesterday over top-line Eastern sprinters, and Galley Slave, stunning Vanderbilt 2-year-old star-rated by the stable as better than either Airframe or Balking. . . .

Both triumphs were sparkling achievements, presaging future laurels. In winning, Brown Jade proved that she is unquestionably the fastest 4-year-old mare in America today. She won like a stake star, romping away from her rivals in the stretch, coasting in front of Woodberry, which came here with a victory over the stakes winning, High Fleet, to his credit. . . .

For Brown Jade, it was her second victory in as many starts. She was one of the best races of her career first out recently when she beat Air Chute, a dead fit sprinter at the top of his form. Bounced about, jostled around, she came from behind to win. . . .

Yesterday she had clear and smooth sailing. Her win was like breaking sticks. She is the best California-bred since Alexander Pantages, and even as a 2-year-old she electrified the western turf when she ran three-quarters in 1:10 on the eye in San Francisco. . . .

Brown Jade has had her ups and downs, though—losing a couple because of bad post manners, running out in several others. However, she is absolutely sound now, probably for the first time in her career, and she runs just as straight as an arrow. . . .

An offer of $30,000 was refused for her last winter and Owner William Le Baron, the Paramount producer, is looking forward to more victories this season. Brown Jade is a nominee for the Santa Anita Handicap but it is very doubtful if she can sustain her speed over a route against first line opposition, but she is one whale of a sprinter! . . .

Galley Slave, making her first out, hotter than a fire cracker in the betting ring despite the extreme quality of the field of fillies, ran a corking race. Jockey Raymond (Sonny) Workman only turned her loose for a sixteenth of a mile, took a wrap on her and coasted home. . . .

Extended, she could have equalled the track record, or perhaps edged it, as it was she skipped along in :33 3-5—three-fifths of a second off the mark held jointly by Airframe and Balking, the Vanderbilt "baby" stars of the last two winters. . . .

Galley Slave is by Gino, an imported English horse which was sired by Tetrameta, he by the unbeaten gray champion, The Tetrarch. Her dam, Sallys Alley was the best mare of her year, a winner of the Pimlico Futurity and other stakes. Jockey Albert Johnson, who has ridden numerous champions, considers Sallys Alley one of the finest thoroughbreds he ever had the leg up on. . . .

"I think Galley Slave is better than either Balking or Airframe," Trainer J. H. (Bud) Stotler, conditioner for Alfred Vanderbilt, said after the race. "She has showed me more." . . .

Calumet Dick, the mud running star which holds a victory over Seabiscuit in the slop, is destined for a Santa Anita campaign, according to advices from the East. He comes looking for mud and is for sale—the price reportedly $35,000. Vanderbilt gambled with

FIVE FOR GWYNNE
Tom Gwynne picked five winners and one second yesterday. The Register handicapper had Galley Slave ($3.60) in the first, Sky o' Blue ($4.20) in the second, Schoolmum ($5) in the fifth, Brown Jade ($4.20) in the sixth and Gentle Lady ($9.60) in the seventh. Good Politian, his choice in the eighth, paid $3.60 to place. . . .

Gwynne's daily selections may be obtained by telephoning The Register. . . .

Chanceview and the weather last year and lost. The same gamble is offered this year, but Calumet Dick might not be able to beat Amor Brigo, the South American in the mud, for one. . . .

Bert Baron's Goldeneye, winner of the Christmas Stakes last year, has gone wrong, it was reported yesterday, injuring a tendon. . . .

HERE AND THERE: Johnny Adams, leading rider of 1937, and the Maj. Austin C. Taylor forces, have parted company. . . . Maj. Taylor had first call on him. . . . Jockey Allen Gray will do the lightweight riding for the stable. . . . Exotude, famed in the "Blue Boot" ring case, has been barred for the remainder of the season for a poor showing the other day. . . . She has been training sore. . . . Dick Carman is trying to get King Saxon reinstated for a stake try. . . . 30. . . .

WASHINGTON ROUTS HONOLULU TOWNIES

HONOLULU—(UP)—The University of Washington football team scored an easy 35 to 6 victory over the Honolulu Town Team here last night. . . .

The Huskies gathered points in every quarter and never were pressed. Eleven thousand fans witnessed the contest. . . .

Luisetti frankly admits he established no reputation at all, as a high school player. . . .

"I was just a big, skinny kid, and if I made six points a game, I considered myself hot. It wasn't until I got to Stanford that I developed my scoring eye." . . .

His "scoring eye," incidentally, enabled him to sink 416 points in his sophomore year, and 410 points as a junior. He has been a unanimous All-America choice two years and it headed for his third—despite the fact that just a few weeks before the present campaign opened he underwent an appendectomy. . . .

"People wonder why I shoot one-handed," he explains. "The answer is simple. It isn't showmanship as many suspect. It's merely a matter of efficiency. I don't have to take time to get set when I shoot one-handed. That saves a half second. I can shoot while in motion, and what probably is most important of all, I can shoot with more accuracy." . . .

There'll be no professional basketball for young Luisetti when he graduates in June. He's majoring in economics, and when he leaves the Stanford campus he'll step right into a job with a large oil company. . . .

Is he working his way through school? Hank says yes, very emphatically. He waits on table for his brothers at the Deke house, and during the football season toils in the athletic publicity office. Basketball is his chief love, although in his sophomore year he made his varsity letter as a high jumper. Since then he has stuck to the cage sport exclusively. . . .

But Luisetti isn't one to take all the credit for his deeds. "I have the good fortune to be playing with the greatest guys in the world," he asserts. "They'd rather have me shoot than anything else. And don't forget, too, that John Bunn made me the high-scorer I am." . . .

APOSTOLI AND STEELE CLASH

NEW YORK—(UP)—Fred Apostoli, San Francisco's battling bellhop, puts his title hopes on the line tonight when he clashes with Middleweight Champion Freddie Steele, of Tacoma, in a 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden. . . .

It is not a title fight, but if it were it could not be more important to Apostoli. It took nearly three years of relentless pursuit to land the Californian this overweight match, and if he does not win it or fails to make an impressive showing, he may never get Steele to give him a shot at the title. A victory would virtually force Freddie to risk his crown this summer. . . .

Although it shapes up as one of the best fights in months, the ticket sale has been slow and no more than 10,000 are expected to witness the match. It is a "hot" fight that has grown "cold" because of postponement from its original date of Nov. 12. It had to be called off when the titleholder was injured in training. . . .

Steele is a 13-5 favorite to repeat the 1935 victory in which he gashed Apostoli's cheek so badly the referee stopped the fight in the 10th round. A difference between Steele's late manager, Dave Miller, and Larry White, Apostoli's manager, forestalled a return match until Fred stopped Marcel Thill last summer. The International Boxing union had recognized Thill as champion of the division, and Apostoli forced Steele's new manager, Dave's brother, Eddie Miller, to give him this indoor match. . . .

Steele will weight about 155, and Apostoli will come in scaling a few ounces over 160 pounds. . . .

Oh Hawkeye fans are worldly wise. They've been around a bit—And thus they rightly highly prize, His handicapping wit!

"They've seen the rest, and know I'm best," chuckled the noted maestro of the turf. "Oh I'm tops, my rivals flop," he concluded modestly. . . .

A check-up disclosed that this was indeed so, most emphatically so, being merely a simple statement of bare facts. Hawkeye fans point proudly to his long and lusty record as leading handicapper, bar none, and to the fact that Hawkeye horses always win. Needless to say, his astute play for yesterday, Brown Jade, won just like he said she would, inundating his already overflowing coffers with the princely sum of two coconuts straight on Lady Bowman in sixth. . . .

72-HOLE TEST TO DETERMINE TEAM MEMBERS

Drastic changes are to be made in the league itself, as well as the method of selecting Santa Ana's personnel in the Southern California golf association's inter-team matches this year. . . .

According to present arrangements, the Santa Ana Country club will be in a brand new division with San Diego, Coronado and Rancho Santa Fe. Last winter the league was composed of Victoria, Mountain Meadows and Red Hills. . . .

Dr. Garland Ross again will captain the 14-man Santa Ana lineup which will be picked after 72 holes of medal play, beginning next week. A squad of 20 will be named, the last six being substitutes. . . .

In other years, the team has been arbitrarily selected by the captain but Dr. Ross feels that a thorough-going tournament will be a more fair basis of determining his roster. All will play at scratch in the pre-league trials, with the low 14 automatically qualifying for the regular squad and the next 6 going on the reserve list. . . .

Trials will be conducted from Jan. 15 through Feb. 6. Team matches start Feb. 20. Santa Ana won the Southern California title in 1936 and reached the final round before losing to the California Country club last season. . . .

Tustin Plays Pomona Frosh Team Tonight

Monroy, Vic Linker, Winkler, Walt Linker and Kiersey will start against the frosh. This will be Tustin's last tuneup before playing Fullerton Tuesday and opening its league season next week. . . .

Marchie Marches

Marchmont Schwartz and his bride, the former Rose Marie O'Donnell of Omaha, following their marriage in the Log Chapel of the University of Norte Dame, where the current head coach of Creighton University was an All-American halfback in 1931.

For the second time this season, Santa Ana's junior college Dons pulled the wool over the Woolen Mills in Andrews gym last night, this time by a score of 35-21. . . .

The Dons regulars turned in a creditable performance in defeating the fast Santa Ana "Independents" and from the way Charles (Chuck) Hall, Cy Leivermann and Ted DeVelbiss (all freshmen) performed it looked like Coach Blanchard Beatty had found his winning combination. Leivermann scored scoring honors with 11 points. DeVelbiss and Hall made 10. . . .

Jumping into an early lead, the Dons held a 10-0 margin the first ten minutes and were really never headed, except just before the first half ended, when the Woolen Mills rallied to come within six points. . . .

Verne Rutledge, Mac Beal, Kenny Marshall, Del Holan and Lynn Arnett did the best job of guarding done by the Dons this season. It was their vigilance that held in check the high-scoring Tom Lacy, Leonard Lockhart and Harry Stanley. Making his first appearance as a regular in the final stages of the game, Beal turned in an especially aggressive performance. . . .

A double overtime game between the Dons reserves and Laguna Beach high school in a preliminary caught the eye of the thrill-seekers. Laguna Beach won 28-23, with a flurry of baskets in the second overtime period. . . .

Santa Ana invades the La Verne College Leopards' stamping ground next Tuesday night for a double-header. The La Verne encounter will be the final game of the practice season before the Dons start their Eastern conference schedule against Fullerton next Friday. . . .

ELKS TO FETE GRID SQUADS

"Football Night," an annual January feature of the Santa Ana Elks, will be observed Tuesday, Jan. 18, with the public invited to a program beginning at 8 o'clock. . . .

Prior to the celebration in the clubrooms, members of Santa Ana junior college and high school squads will be dined at 6:30. Coaches and captains of all high school teams in Orange county also have been invited. Aside from players, the spread will be by invitation only. . . .

In past years, the Elks have invited "big shots" of the coaching profession. With Bill Cole as chairman, the B. P. O. E. this year will play host to rival coaches and captains of the Eastern Junior College conference. Acceptances already have been received from most of the coaches, with Douglas Smythe of San Bernardino, head man of the team that tied Santa Ana twice, being listed as one of the speakers. . . .

CALIFORNIA RATED NATIONAL CHAMPS

NEW ORLEANS—(UP)—California's Golden Bears today were named National collegiate football champions for 1937 by Paul B. Williamson, rating expert. . . .

Williamson who has been forecasting gridiron results by his system for six years, said California stood out as the most consistent National collegiate champion for the year. . . .

Pittsburgh was chosen second and Santa Clara third among the 24 leading teams. . . .

PREPS PEPPER PINS

Bowling is the latest sport to be introduced into high schools of California. Forty leagues are to be organized for interscholastic competition. . . .

WIDE OPEN SUNSET BASKET RACE OPENS

With coaches and critics alike divided as to the true favorite, the first Sunset league basketball season gets under way tonight with three games: Orange at Newport Harbor; Anaheim at Excelsior; Huntington Beach at Jordan. . . .

Class A games start at 8 o'clock, being preceded by 7 o'clock preliminaries between Class B quintets. The schedule: Jan. 7—Huntington Beach at Jordan; Anaheim at Excelsior; Orange at Newport Harbor. . . .

Jan. 14—Excelsior at Huntington Beach; Newport at Anaheim; Jordan at Orange. . . .

Jan. 21—Orange at Excelsior; Huntington Beach at Anaheim; Jordan at Newport Harbor. . . .

VINES, PERRY SHRINK FROM SELF FLATTERY

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LOS ANGELES—Before I die and become just another bust in the Hall of Fame I hope to meet a great athlete who, when asked to name an all-time team of his sport, unhesitatingly places his own name on the list.

I acquired this ambition today when I read the replies of Fred Perry and Ellsworth Vines to a request that they rank the first ten tennis players of all time. Vines, leaning so far backward in his modesty that he resembled a croquet wicket, selected Tilden, Perry, Bill Johnston, La Coste, Budge, Borotra, Cochet, Nusslein, Kozul and Crawford. And Perry, with more than enough self-effacement to equip all the rural milkmaids in the world, nominated Tilden, Vines, Johnston, La Coste, Cochet, Budge, Borotra, Nusslein, Crawford and Patterson.

Daffy or Insincere
Now anyone with enough knowledge of tennis to differentiate between a volley and a haircut knows that Vines knows he is one of the ten greatest players ever produced. And the same goes for Perry. Yet each omits himself, which causes me to believe they are either daffy, insincere, or just a pair of shrinking violets seeking a mossy stone.

I believe the answer must be insincerity, else how could Vines place Perry second on his list, when Perry is a man who he beats half the time? And what else could prompt Perry to name Vines second, when Ellsworth is a man he holds his own with?

The one consolation in such behavior by the Messrs. Vines and Perry is that they are holding fast to one of sports' silliest traditions. Ask Babe Ruth to name an all-time baseball team and the fat one will reel off a nine that does not have the name of Ruth in right field. I would hate to hang by my thumbs until Ruth, in his heart, was convinced that he didn't belong on any and all all-star baseball teams.

Salary Squabble Immodest
Certainly there was nothing modest about Ruth when he was hogging with Colonel Jacoby. I don't ever remember his denying his true worth in those days. He shouted it from the houseposts, and was always looking for a newer and higher housepost.

But they all do it. Bobby Jones must have selected three gross of all-time golf teams in his day, and yet his name never was on one of them. Which, of course, is just as absurd as it would have been for Napoleon to leave himself off an all-star military team, or Mickey Mouse to modestly omit his name in an all-rodder list.

I feel I can criticize the sports heroes for false modesty, because I never was guilty of the charge myself. When I was bean bag and squat tag champion I was never one to hide my light under a bushel. Every all-star bean bag or squat tag team ever named was headed by the name Henry McLEMORE. I even refused to place the name of Abou Ben Adhem of mine, name of bou Ben Adhem ahead of mine, and as everyone knows Abou always liked to get his name first.

ORANGE, FULLERTON WIN IN NEW LOOP

Vic Baden's Orange Concordians proved too much of a first half for Newport Beach on the Walker Memorial court in Orange last night and walked off with a 44-28 win in the opening game for both in the new Orange County Basketball League.

At halftime the score was 23-13 in favor of Orange. Walter Gunter hit the lace net for 15 points. Crawley of Newport Beach was second high with 12.

Holding San Juan Capistrano's offensive to four points during the second half, Fullerton won its opener, 38-27.

For the first ten minutes Clarence Bishop outplayed the Capistrano five. He was largely instrumental in giving Fullerton an 8-0 lead. The Gil Strother, San Juan Capistrano athletic director, went into action and tied the count 10-10 with the aid of "Queenie" Ercareate.

Trailing 23-13 at the half, Fullerton came back with a rush. Douglas Wheeler, former Woolen Mills star, connected for 12 points in six successive field goals to put the game on ice.

Four Ways Of Getting There

KATY RAWLS PICKED AS YEAR'S NO. 1 WOMAN ATHLETE AFTER WINNING FOUR A.A.U. SWIMMING TITLES.

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

This is the last of eight articles reviewing the sports year.

A roundup of 1937 sports activities includes much more than 95-yard touchdowns, jaunts, tremendous home runs, and spectacular knock-outs.

It is unfair to overlook such stars as the stout-hearted young men who manned the Washington shells, composed the Stanford basketball team; an automobile racing driver like Wilbur Shaw; swimmers on the order of Katherine Rawls and Ralph Flanagan, and some more.

Washington swept the Hudson at Poughkeepsie winning the varsity, jayvee and freshman events. Harold K. Vanderbilt's trim yacht, Ranger, with its owner at the helm, successfully defended the America's Cup against T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavour II.

While you never suspect it looking at them now, the Detroit Red Wings won the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world hockey supremacy for the second winter in a row.

Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, the German team, completely dominated the six-day bicycle racing business. They recently accounted for their eighth consecutive triumph in Buffalo.

Hale Jones of Wood River, Ill., captured the Grand American Handicap in the annual transatlantic tournament at Dayton, O.

Shaw Wins 500-Mile

Wilbur Shaw bagged the 500-mile Memorial Day automobile race in Indianapolis, setting a new record of 24:20.7, with Bernd Rosemeyer, the German, coping the Vanderbilt Cup grind on Long Island.

Gene Gagliardi, Mount Vernon, N. Y., barber, ankled away with the singles championship in the American Bowling Congress. Max Stein of Belleville, Ill., took the all-events title.

Rolling in a local league, Harvey Braatz of Cleveland established a record.

James Roy Smith is the only orange county coach who can honestly figure on winning a championship now. His swimming and water polo teams are just that good.

Dick Ryan will have to pull a couple of star athletes out of the air if he wants his Anaheim Colonists to take the Sunset league championship title.

Harold Lang has another championship track and field team at Fullerton jayvee.

Wendell Pickens won't get to first base with his basketball team, but his baseball team might. So will his Fullerton town (basketball) team.

Frank Hargrove, husky Placentia slugger who collects slivers from the Fullerton bench, will sign a contract if George Stovall has his way. The kid has power in his arms and wrists.

Leonard Karjalainen, the South Dakota Finn, will be on the firing line for the Angels during spring training and maybe longer but he isn't ready for the Coast League.

Delbert Jones may be playing major league ball next year. "Bus" DeVolder, the sensational Fullerton junior college southpaw, will sign a contract after the season. Toledo wants him. So does Hollywood.

Bill Cook's Dons will play a lot of football in the fall and win another flag and a promotion for the

MOVIE STARS WOMAN MASKED MAN TO PLAY

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LOS ANGELES—The 1938 tournament golf season was inaugurated here today when a widely assorted field of 275 begins firing in the 72-hole, $5000 Los Angeles Open.

The entry list for the fixture reads like a few pages torn at random from the census. All sorts of folk are down for the four days of play. Besides the established professionals whose names you always see, there are movie stars, wrestlers, restaurateurs, a woman, and even a masked marvel.

The latter gentleman will step up to the first tee clothed from head to foot in sinister black, including a hood much like the old-fashioned hangman's bonnet. No one knows who he is, but naturally there have been reports of his burning up the course in practice rounds.

The gentler sex will be represented by "Babe" Didrikson, the Texas gal who six years ago started on the way to fame and fortune by outdoing all competitors in the Olympic games here. La Didrikson is fresh from a month of tutoring by Tommy Armour and believes she has a chance to be in the money.

"Sammy" Snead and Jimmy Thompson will be the only players in the field who will outthrust Babe said after her final tune-up round. "And they won't do it by more than a few yards."

To show you what a novel field has assembled for play in this tournament, Miss Didrikson will have as her threesome partners George Zaharias, the wrestler, and Pardee Erdman, an erudite religion professor from Occidental college.

Harold Lloyd, the man who parlayed a big grin and a pair of tortoiseshell glasses into a fortune, is honorary marshal and will start play not long after breakfast time.

The two municipal golf courses of Griffith Park will be the scene of the day. The two biggest galleries of the day are expected to follow the threesomes which include Harry Cooper and Sammy Snead, the two co-favorites. Cooper plays his first round over the Harwood course with Bruce McCormick of Los Angeles and Henry Picard.

Katherine Rawls won A. A. U. aquatic titles at 440 and 580 yards and one mile and in the 300-meter individual relay. Ralph Flanagan paddled to four world records in outdoor A. A. U. championships, while winning the 440, 580 and the mile.

HOOP SCORING RECORD

Stanford, led by the phenomenal Hank Luisetti and Notre Dame established themselves in collegiate ranks.

Toledo University claimed an intercollegiate scoring record for its aptly named forward, Chuck Chukovits, who recently chucked 17 field goals and seven free throws for 41 points against Adrian College.

Wrestling continued in its usual topsy-turvy state, with any number of gladiators claiming the world's heavyweight championship, most notable of whom were Everett Marshall and Bruno Nagurski.

Marshall was recognized as titlist in the midwest while Nagurski, who divided his time between the gridiron and mat, was hailed as king on the west coast after defeating Dean Detton.

Ralph Greenleaf retained the pocket billiards championship. So matters stand until another year of activity gets under way.

Most sports grow like a healthy child, and while each new year is expected to surpass the last, 1937 will have to hustle to outdo 1937.

HOLLYWOOD-FRIDAY NIGHT

Is Hollywood Friday night? As you listen to the broadcast (KNX, 6 p. m.), keep in mind that you'll soon be able to see Hollywood Hotel on your favorite movie screen. All the glamour and romance and glitter of Movietown, the voices and personalities of this program have followed through the years have been brought together to give you one of the most entertaining pictures of the season.

Tuesday night, Warner Brothers previewed the movie at its studios, and if you have been a fan of this broadcast, you'll see as well as hear many of your favorites—the lovely Frances Langford of the sweet-hot voice, the new emcee, Jerry Cooper, your soup salesman, Ken Niles, Raymond Paige and his brilliant orchestra, Louella Parsons of the tired voice and mighty pen. And in addition you'll see a mythical Hollywood Central station sort of a place that makes the actual hotel on the boulevard look like a worn-out slipper.

The picture doesn't show the broadcast as it really originates from a small theater used for the show. It makes no attempt to present actual scenes as we know them. Instead it presents what all of us have visualized in our hearts. Tonight, when Ken Niles refers to the Grand Room, you'll think of a large dining room, beautifully decorated, an orchestra, a dance floor. In the picture your most imaginative dreams come true.

Outside of the interest radio fans will have in seeing their favorite broadcast enacted on the screen, the picture will stand alone on its own merit. For one thing Dick Powell is a major attraction. This fellow chap is really a very good actor with a very good voice. A rare commodity. And when you think it over, it's amazing that he has never had a poor picture. We can't say the same for the imitable Bing Crosby.

When Dick goes to Hollywood to find fame and fortune, he is dazzled by the splendor of the famous hotel, when he is bowled over by that glamorous movie star gal, you feel that it is real. And when you feel that sincerity in a picture, then an actor playing a part makes you feel right along with him that what is happening is true and not make believe, it's not only good acting, it's a good picture. And make no mistake about this, Dick is singing better every time I hear him. The only fault with his picture is that they don't let him sing enough.

By the way, Priscilla and Rosemary Lane, former Fred Waring singers, who play each other's double in the picture, are really sisters. They are quite capable little actresses. Rosemary, in particular, has a very nice speaking voice, although her singing is not quite true in several places. These girls are new faces to most of us. And considering what a cut-throat business the movie game is, what with all of the old-timers stealing scenes and yelling and barking at you, they do a very good job of their parts.

Louella Parsons was a brave woman to play herself in the picture. A lot of folks may have pictured her as the typical Jean Arthurish woman reporter, and Louella has been in the game too long to be just a girl. But her picture is just as good, and she photographs quite well, although she looks more like the president of a women's club than a movie columnist.

I rather suspect the cameramen of doing her a bad trick in a couple of shots. For in the opening scenes she made a better appearance.

The two high spots of the picture are the numbers directed by Benny Goodman and Raymond Paige. Benny Goodman goes to town in the grand manner with the hottest arrangement of "Christoph Columbus" ever to blister the silver screen. For sheer hot rhythm, he has what it takes, and it makes me feel that there must be a lot to this swing business that I've been overlooking. It's worth the price of admittance just to see that drummer of his, Gene Krupa, in action. And the two colored gentlemen in the band are so fast that your eyes can hardly keep up with them.

But Raymond Paige scoops on the real performance of the show. He's not new to radio fans, but this is his debut in talking pictures. His arrangement of "Dark Eyes" is so brilliant and dramatic and exciting that for a moment you forget the plot of the picture and just listen. Given a full orchestra for the first time, he highlights the violins, the flutes, the chorus to make even the layman grasp the thrill and the drama of his interpretation. Not mere talent gave us "Dark Eyes" but a touch of genius as well.

Mabel Todd is really funny in her characterization of the dumb little sister, and Hugh Herbert makes you realize how lucky you are that he isn't YOUR father.

It's a good show, and I won't

SANTA CLARA.—(UP)—The case of Jerry Ginney, Santa Clara guard—whether he is or is not eligible to play during the 1938 football season—was under discussion here today.

Listed on the program as a senior because he played one minute of the 1935 season, Ginney has insisted he did not play during 1935. Ginney said he spent the season on the bench except one game when he was sent in during the closing

GROWERS AND WORKERS GIVE LABOR STAND

In appealing to the Orange County Board of Arbitration for an increase in pay for agricultural field workers of the county, Lucas Lucio, representative of the workers, today declared that such workers receive practically one-half of what they need annually for support of their families.

Employers, however, principally Japanese, claim that cost of growing and marketing produce is too high to allow of increase in wages for the workers. Growers ask a reduction in pay from 30 cents to 25 cents while workers ask increase from 30 cents to 37 cents.

Cite Survey
Lucio declared that surveys made by department of commerce and domestic bureau officials of Washington, D. C., in the Los Angeles areas show that field workers receive about $360 annually when, actually, they need $700 for support of their families. However, he pointed out that the survey was made in 1935 and filed in 1936. Lucio said that the report of the survey pointed out: That unless a general decline in farm prices should occur, the farm economists expect the following factors to cause a further increase in farm wage rates—(1) Farm wage rates are still relatively low when compared with either the prices of farm products or the incomes of farmers; (2) judged by pre-depression standards, farm wages are still low compared with wage rates in non-agricultural occupations.

Under an agreement, the arbitration board is named to settle the employer-employee differences in the agricultural industry of Orange county.

"Humane Bits"

By FLORENCE A. ROBINSON

Not professing any claim to veterinarian knowledge I nevertheless gave a good chortle recently when someone who has read this column telephoned me for a remedy for ticks. I guess they are an all-year-round annoyance in this country and a pest to animals if ever there was one. Painful to have and hard to get rid of.

Dr. E. R. Blamey, official veterinarian to the American Kennel club, in one of his books says that periodic dipping with rotenone, an extract of derris root, is very effective.

Even at that I wouldn't mind being a veterinarian, giving aid and speaking for those dumb creatures that cannot speak for themselves.

A resident in Gargh, India, tried a new, but expensive method of training animals. When he was attacked by a neighbor's dog, he did not whip it. Instead, he caught it as it sprang at him, raised it bodily to his mouth, and—bit.

But the method is expensive. The owner of the dog at Gargh sued the biter for $550. And the magistrate ruled that the defendant should pay for the cost of the dog's treatment.

An oil company has rendered a humane service for horses in Ohio by furnishing a free water service. Wherever a red horse sign is shown a hearty welcome awaits Old Dobbin with a proper bucket of refreshing water. The movement has spread all over the state and stations in practically every city in Ohio have a full bucket waiting for dumb animal friends.

A last reminder that the Orange County Humane society will meet next Wednesday night in the Weber Baking company club rooms, 7:30 o'clock. And as the society editors would say, "Delicious refreshments will be served."

In China, 15 to 20 raisins in a tiny package are sold for about one-twelfth of a cent—the lowest priced packaged goods known to foreign trade.

Vitamin Lack Is Seen As Cause Of Auto Accidents

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 7.—(UP)—Dr. Henry T. Scott, director of biological research for the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation, believes many automobile accidents are caused by poor vision due to a Vitamin A deficiency.

Some day, Dr. Scott says, driving tests will be made to determine whether motorists are consuming enough food that contains adequate Vitamin A to combat irregularities of vision.

"Tests have demonstrated," Dr. Scott explains, "that between 15 and 24 per cent of the adult population is suffering from Vitamin A deficiency."

"This causes a subnormal concentration of the visual purple which prevents the individual from becoming readily adapted from light to dark and dark to light. As a result, he is unable to discern objects clearly at night," Dr. Scott added.

A diet which contains additional vegetables, egg yolks, cheese and milk is recommended by Dr. Scott to compensate for the Vitamin A deficiency.

SPEED ISLAND AIR BASE PLAN

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 7.—(UP)—Hawaii, mid-Pacific outpost in the navy's defense plans, will be one of the strongest air bases in the world before the end of 1938, it was revealed here today.

With 36 modern, long-range patrol bombers already stationed at Pearl Harbor, high officials of the aircraft scouting force here, revealed an additional 42 planes, at the least, will be sent to the islands before Thanksgiving this year.

Plan Flight Jan. 19
The first of the mass flights which will ferry the great PBV-class bombers, each with a crew of from six to eight men, across the more than 2,000 miles of the Pacific will get under way here January 19.

Two other flights are scheduled for the summer and fall.

In this month's hop the navy will send the greatest number of planes ever to attempt such a long distance, non stop. Eighteen planes, under command of Lieut. Comdr. S. B. Warner, comprising 12 ships of VP-10 squadron and 6 of VP-9 squadron, will be in the January 19 flight.

There will be at least 12 planes in each of the flights scheduled for July or August and October or November. There is a possibility even more planes will make those hops.

PLAN FAVORED FOR SUPER AIR TARGET RANGE

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Jan. 7.—(UP)—Long used as a target range by the army air forces, the vast flat plains of Muroc dry lake in the Mojave desert soon may become one of the world's finest air target grounds.

The House of Representatives appropriations committee has manifested an extreme interest in the project and is sending a subcommittee to California to investigate the further use of the range for military activities.

The Muroc dry lake range has features not found elsewhere. It is strategically located midway between the army headquarters at March Field in Southern California and Hamilton Field in Northern California, and is within easy flying distance of the entire California coastline.

The isolation of the grounds in the wastelands of the California interior desert area virtually eliminates the danger of injuring spectators or the curious and gives army chieftains the maximum opportunity to train army fliers.

The dry and crusted bed of the once wide lake has been used often for speed trials and endurance runs by automobile manufacturers, but has been torn up and pitted to a great extent by recent bombing activities. Outlines of huge battleships and buildings are painted or marked on the lake floor and make excellent targets for the gunners.

Bombing projectiles can be filled with explosives or cement with equal accuracy, and there is nothing to be damaged, "ships" and "cities" can be machine-gunned with impunity, and the results measured with exacting accuracy.

The flat floor also permits perfect landings and takeoffs. The congressional subcommittee is expected to consider what is needed to go with the modern equipment being acquired by the army air corps. Strategy of military aviation has been altered considerably through observation of aerial tactics in the Chinese and Spanish conflicts. There new angles and problems can be worked out at Muroc to better advantage than anywhere else in the country, it is believed.

Jimmie Fidler
...in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, January 7.—Everywhere I go in Hollywood, I hear a chorus of wails from the producers about the constantly mounting costs of production. Star salaries are going up, set costs are soaring, this is skyrocketing, that is climbing, in spite of the fact that most studios showed a mighty fat profit last year, the men who hold the pursestrings are predicting disaster. And if it comes, it will be the result of their own folly.

The competition in this business is too keen—and too unscrupulous. Studios make a business of stealing one another's stars. They even fight for the services of little unknowns who have not more than one chance in a thousand of ever becoming box office attractions. If Joe Zilch offers Mary Pretty $250 a week, Sam Giotz is sure to bid $500 if she will jump her contract—and when she does, Ben Whoosis manages to let her know that he will pay $1000 if she will walk out on Giotz. In any other business such tactics would be considered suicidal—and it seems to me that they are suicidal in Hollywood. Once the salaries go up, they stay up, for girls like Mary cannot take a cut without sacrificing "face."

And I wish that the Zilches and Giotzes who throw $1000 pay checks around to untired ingenuities so recklessly would quit crabbing about the pennies paid the workmen on the set.

Mention foreign imports, and any Hollywood conversation, just now, immediately swings to Hedy Keissler—and one of the most amusing situations in Filmmville's hectic history. Hedy is a real beauty and a great actress, but, as I think I told you the other day, she made the mistake of starting a European opera entitled "Ecstasy." M-G-M, having contracted to play Miss Keissler a small fortune each week, renamed her Hedy Lamarr and prayed that her connection with that unfortunate picture would be forgotten, for "Ecstasy" is much, much too daring to suit the average American moralist. But alas, the meanies who own the picture saw a chance to clean up and hardly had the newspapers announced the signing of Metro's new star than "Ecstasy" was reissued and pounced upon by every theatre owner who could get away with it. For the first time in Hollywood annals, the executives of a movie studio are grateful for censorship. "Ecstasy" will be banned in almost all of the 48 states and 268 cities which maintain Boards of Review.

Ever since the release of "A Star Is Born," my mail has been filled with letters demanding more all-color pictures. "Why," they ask, "do Hollywood producers go on making pictures in black and white when color has been so well received and is so much better?" The answer is simple. All-color film costs several times as much as black and white. Its use adds expensive weeks to the production schedule. And the cost of lighting the sets, never a small item, is doubled because of the extra illumination needed for the color cameras.

A great many stories have been written in Hollywood gossip columns about Sonja Henie's thrift and greed for money. But here is the other side of the brief. A few days ago, a jewelry salesman called to see Sonja on the set. She examined his wares and fell so completely in love with three dia-

COURT MAY DECIDE OIL SUIT MONDAYJUDGE WARMER TO BE IN CITY ON OTHER CASE

The possibility that Superior Judge Benjamin F. Warmer of San Bernardino may render his decision in the Eden oil suit next Monday was being considered here today when it was learned that Judge Warmer will be in Santa Ana that day to hear another court case.

With receipt of the report from Dr. Arnold O. Beckman, Catech chemist employed to test samples of Eden road oil furnished the county, to determine whether the samples met requirements of the refinery's contract with the county, all evidence in the Eden suit for $1729 against the county was said to be "in."

Only Argument Remains
Nothing remained but the argument of counsel, if the court decides to hear it, and the court's decision.

Counsel in the case said today they had not been advised by Judge Warmer so far as to a date for resuming open hearing of the Eden case, but that, inasmuch as remaining action in the matter would require but little time, it was quite possible Judge Warmer might conclude the case here next Monday.

He is scheduled to preside over another matter in Judge H. G. Ames' court. This matter, court attaches said, pertains to the case of the city of Newport Beach against three defendants in an effort to quiet title to a piece of property in that city.

In addition to the election of officers, according to Executive Harrison White, a program of public education as to the accomplishments of Scouting will be discussed. This program, he indicated would be presented for consideration as a method of creating greater interest in the movement through public understanding.

In the annual report to be submitted to the council it was stated: "We should follow a more intensive program of general public instruction on scouting. The public should be entirely informed as to what is going on."

"A systematic program of talks and demonstrations should be brought before luncheon groups and various other groups to develop a good speakers bureau in each district."

LOCAL NEWS STORIES PICKED BY FROSH AS 1937 "BREAKS"

Newspaper readers find war news to their liking. That was the conclusion reached by first year journalism students at Santa Ana junior college when results of the annual news story survey were revealed. First choices among 1937 news events were the China-Japan "undeclared war," and the sinking of the U.S.S. Panay.

Orange county items securing special attention in the vote included the "unusual" cold spell of last winter, the traffic war launched by Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard against careless drivers, and demands of county employees for salary increases.

"Big" Local Stories
The fatal case of a "white man turning black," and discovery of a valuable graphite mine were also selected as top happenings of the past year.

Other national and international stories to secure high student ratings in the order of their preference included the Hindenburg disaster, loss of Amelia Earhart, the Supreme Court struggle, Texas school explosion, Ohio valley floods, death of John D. Rockefeller sr., and the strife resulting from sit-down strikes.

Duke "Far Behind"
Marriage of the Duke of Windsor to Mrs. Wallis Warfield attracted but few votes in the jaycee journalism poll, although other similar surveys gave the story high ratings. Not a single vote was cast for the Los Angeles hill slide which attracted national attention last month.

Choosing outstanding news stories of the year has been an annual custom of the jaycee journalists for the past five years.

Happenings in Orange county during the past twelve-month period are always considered in making the final selections, according to John H. McCoy, head of the college department of journalism.

Dr. Mason Plans Lecture Series

Dr. John Brown Mason, instructor in the social science department at Santa Ana Junior college, is scheduled to speak next Tuesday in a forum lecture series at Pasadena Junior college.

The instructor's topic will be "Public Service—An Opportunity and a Challenge to Youth." His speech is in line with the topic for January at the forum—that of youth.

U. S. RELIEF AID ASSURED TODAY

Orange county officials today had received assurance that federal relief contributions to the entire state of California would be forthcoming—because "a financial situation in Del Norte county, which threatened to withhold payment of federal funds to California had been 'satisfactorily adjusted.'"

Jack W. Snow, Orange county welfare director, declared the word, received from Sacramento in a United Press dispatch, was especially "good news" for this area. It was recalled that Supervisor Steele Finley at the Tuesday meeting of the board, had reported that the small mountain county having only 12 persons on relief might block the contributions. Finley attended a conference recently in Sacramento.

The news of the "adjustment" came today from Mrs. Florence L. Turner, of Sacramento, director of the state social welfare department. She said the state's 53 counties now are participating in the federal old age assistance, blind and needy children program.

P.-T. A. Board To Convene Tuesday

The executive board of the Spurgeon School P.-T. A. will meet Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. in the Spurgeon school auditorium. Mrs. L. D. Spencer, president, will be in charge.

Urging all Spurgeon mothers to attend the adult education classes which started today in the school auditorium, Mrs. Spencer said the classes will begin at 9:30 each Friday morning. Spurgeon children will attend the concert of the Pasadena boys' glee club to be held Friday in the high school auditorium.

Inquest Opened In Traffic Death

Inquest for Ira W. Ingle, 70, of 522 South Broadway, who was a traffic victim Wednesday night in front of 931 South Main, when he stepped to the street from between two parked cars, and was almost instantly killed, was under way late today at Winbiger's mortuary.

Mr. Ingle was killed by an automobile operated by Bertin E. Hall, 35, Glendale motorist. The death was the third in county traffic for 1937.

Born in Seneca county, Ohio, Mr. Ingle retired from a long career as teacher and superintendent of schools in the eastern state.

First to be accorded an honorary membership in the club, Mrs. Macurda was voted this distinction after her resignation had been presented to the organization.

Aiding Mrs. Birtcher in carrying out plans yesterday were Mrs. W. W. Foote, Mrs. Rose Havelly and Mrs. George Bond. Mrs. Bond's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Clarence Bond, a guest of the day, also assisted.

Yellow flowers and tapers brightened the table at which luncheon was served. Presentation of a club gift to Mrs. Macurda came as a feature of this interval. Later in the afternoon, Mrs. Macurda gave each member a sachet.

Mrs. Frank was conducted, "The program, whose subject was 'The Cookie Jar' had been selected by Mrs. Birtcher.

Mrs. Jesse Wolfe read "Our Old Cookie Jar"; Mrs. C. E. Fuller, "My Mother"; Mrs. Glenn Tidball, "The Cookie Jar"; Mrs. George Bond, "At Grampa's Farm"; Mrs. Rose Havelly, "Grandma's Cookies"; Mrs. W. W. Foote, "Deep Heaven"; Mrs. Macurda, "Sweeties."

It was at this time that Mrs. Macurda presented her remembrance to the group.

Mrs. Earl Morris read "Fa Love's Sake"; Mrs. George Munro, "Granny's Jar"; Mrs. Bernice Thompson of Pasadena, "Fair Tale"; Mrs. Brisco sang "Visitors" and read a poem "On the Pantry Shelf."

Mrs. Birtcher's poem, "A Broken Jar" was read by her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Perkins of Garden Grove. Mrs. W. W. Perkins read "A Bit of Home Life," a chapter from her book "Family Story and Mrs. Frank Lansdown gave "To a Friend," dedicated to Mrs. Macurda.

Contributions by guests were "The Cookie Jar" by Miss Gertrude Andrews and "Apology and 'Far Fetched'" by Mrs. Earl Ladd. Mrs. Clarence Bond and Mrs. W. W. Perkins completed the guest group. Members present who did not take part in the program included Mesdames Nelson Visel, Rose Jackson and Ray Brown, with Mrs. Jack Geraghty of Glendale.

By request of the group, Mrs. Brisco sang several of the numbers whose words were written by Mrs. George Bond, with music by Mrs. Macurda, who was at the piano.

When members of Torosa Sewing Circle met yesterday afternoon as guests of Mrs. Mary Schlasman, 1201 West Fifth street, they enjoyed a belated gift exchange and other special features planned by the hostesses, Mrs. Schlasman, Mrs. Squier and Mrs. Nannie Myers.

Plans were made for a monthly benefit party which the circle will give next Tuesday at 1 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Leona Talbott, 319 West Third street, where luncheon will be served. There will be prizes for winners in bridge and golf. The public is invited to attend.

Masculine Cast Stages
One-Act Play
For Community Players

Intrigued by announcement that last night's Community Players' program in The Barn was planned by a purely masculine committee headed by Vernon Helmick, dozens of association members turned out for the event, and gave enthusiastic approval to results of these plans.

However opening and closing numbers of the program were feminine, for Miss Carol May Larson played a brilliant piano solo, "La Cavalier Fantastique" by Godard, after which the four men, all of them students at Santa Ana night school, presented "Fog," in dramatic fashion that has seldom been excelled in The Barn one-acts.

In this, Arthur Chapman took the part of "Bill," Ed Brown played "Frank," Vernon Helmick took the role of "Red" and Duane Armstrong was the "Radio Announcer." After the applause had subsided, the musical program was continued by Mrs. Raymond Tovar, soprano, who, accompanied by Mrs. Eleanor Buckles, sang charmingly, Lord's "Little Irish Girl" and "Will You Remember" from "Maytime."

Mrs. Frank was chairman for the annual One-Act Playwriting contest, announced that a dozen or more manuscripts had been turned in, and that others would be submitted by next Wednesday when the contest will close. It is planned to choose the winners for these one-acts, by try-outs just as in major productions, and there is a possibility that the plays will be presented at the end of this month, leaving February clear for the next Community Play.

"The Late Christopher Bean" will be the association's next production dates for which were named as February 25 and 26. Part of last night's entertainment for the audience, lay in the informal try-outs held for the director, Gladys Simpson Shaffer, and the casting committee, J. Leslie Steffenson, John Colwell and Mona Summers Smith.

Coffee and doughnuts gave the final touch of interest to the evening, and were served by Mrs. Shaffer, Mrs. Wason and Mr. and Mrs. Colwell.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Since this theatre opened it has been our policy to show only the pick of the big pictures. That you have appreciated this has been proved by your support and attendance.

We have every reason to believe that the shows we will have this coming year will be bigger and better in every way. The cost of making a steady output of such pictures must be borne by the theatres. Our film costs this year have increased by more than 50 per cent. Our pay-rolls have steadily mounted and all other operating expenses have risen; therefore, we are increasing our evening adult admission price slightly.

Beginning next Sunday, January 9th, our new prices will be:
Adults: 20c until 4, 30c after 4. Children 10c
We trust that you will appreciate our necessity in making this small price raise.

WALKER'S will continue to be the finest and most comfortable theatre in Orange county—and the price will still be the LOWEST.

Bible Class To Hear Ministers

ORANGE, Jan. 7.—At a meeting of the Orange Ministerial union Wednesday arrangements were made for pastors belonging to the association to aid in supplying teachers for the Men's Community Bible class during the absence of the teacher, the Rev. M. L. Pearson, who will be preaching in the Anaheim Presbyterian church Sunday mornings for some time to come.

Walter Enoch, another teacher, also is unable to serve at present. W. W. Perry appeared with the two men and asked for two teachers each month to be furnished by the union. Ministers agreed to aid the class in this way.

A book review was given by the vicar of Trinity Episcopal church, the Rev. H. F. Softley, who reviewed "The Bishop of Amagh" by D'Arcy. Devotionals were led by the Rev. Arthur T. Hobson of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Minnie Neville and Mrs. J. E. Park, representing the W. C. T. U., asked for co-operation in temperance education. They requested that one of the summer union services be given over to either a temperance talk or play, that the World Day of prayer to be observed March 4 include temperance features and that April 24 be observed as temperance Sunday. The members of the union pledged co-operation as requested.

CHAPEL RUINED BEYOND REPAIR; FATE IN DOUBT

SHANGHAI, Jan. 7.—(UP)—Two and a half months of bitter block-to-block warfare reduced Chapel from a prosperous Chinese business community to hundreds of acres of forlorn ruins.

Hardly a house between Soochow Creek on the southwest and the open country which begins several miles to the east can be renovated and used again as dwelling, shop or storehouse, it would seem.

Each, save a handful miraculously spared from bombs, bullets and shell fire, must be razed if not already leveled, and built anew.

Bombs have blown buildings apart, leaving only a corner or a fragment of wall standing. Machine-gun fire during the bitter street fighting literally ate away the fronts of buildings, pulverized their inside walls and reduced their furnishings to so many piles of rubbish. What the fighting failed to destroy, the fire set by retreating Chinese turned into desolation.

Only Bodies Removed
Impassive Japanese troops stationed throughout the district have cleared the bodies from the streets, but no attempt even to sweep them clean would have required half of Gen. Iwane Matsui's Shanghai army.

The streets remain a welter of fallen telephone poles, electric wires, twisted water pipes blasted out from under the surface where Japanese bombs and shell fire tore away the pavement. House fronts which fell in one piece from the force of the explosions obstruct what little traffic cares to use the thoroughfares.

Roof tiles are everywhere. What survived best are sandbag redoubts built by the Chinese defenders, and the occasional solid concrete pillbox, slotted for machine guns and equipped with electric light and over stuffed chairs which the Japanese say the Chinese built long before the war in violation of a demilitarization agreement.

Damage is said to be three times as great as it was in the 1922 war, from which Chapel had hardly recovered.

11 Miles of Trenches
Where the open country begins, and with it a trench system which stretches 11 miles to Tazang, every house has been damaged to a greater or less extent. Splintered trees and abandoned barbed wire barricades dot the fields. A few stray dogs and cats, driven from foodless Chapel, watch the impassive, chubby Japanese troops erect little wooden signs to mark the spots where the first landing party members fell, and decorate them with flowers.

Japanese say that there, along a section of line possibly a half mile long, 80 Japanese infantrymen stood off 30,000 indecisive Chinese a few hundred yards distant, and 20 Japanese threw an attack of 10,000 into confusion by springing from their redoubt in a counter-attack which cost 15 of them their lives.

KATIE BLYN—Connie's "double."

Yesterday, Constance Corby, on the eve of her announcement party, is the richest girl in the world but certainly not the happiest. She reflects on this as she whirls out on the dance floor with her fiance, Rodney Brandon.

CHAPTER II

"AND now that everyone's drunk a toast to our happiness and you've danced until your pretty silver slippers must be worn through, when are you going to marry me?" Rodney asked. He had persuaded Connie to slip away to the little summer house that often served as a rendezvous when they wanted a few moments alone.

"When?" Connie murmured.
"When," Rodney repeated. "You can't expect me to wait to wait much longer, darling. In fact I can't see any reason now for waiting at all."

Connie tilted her head to one side, regarding him. "You manage to sound like the impatient lover, Rodney—almost. Somehow, you don't make it quite convincing. For my part I can't see any reason to hurry."

From the marquee the low music of a languid waltz floated out to them, mingling with the soft shush-shush of the surf pounding against the wall. A night for romance, surely; the stage all set, the characters in costume. Yet—was romance missing?

"You're not going to keep putting me off now, I hope," Rodney bent toward her, smiling. He was seldom ruffled, seldom angry. He was too poised; one might have said, too perfect. Just as he was almost too handsome in his impeccable dinner jacket.

Connie shrugged her lovely shoulders. Sometimes she wished Rodney would get angry. It would make life more exciting. What fun was it to quarrel, if the other person never would fight back? She said, "I'll marry you next year, or tomorrow. What difference will it make? Things will just go on the same, anyway."

Rodney laughed. "That's not too flattering to my male vanity. But as I've told you, I'll take you on any terms, my dear. I'm such a lucky beggar to get you." He took her hand in his. "Would you really marry me tomorrow, darling?"

"Why not?" Connie asked.
He said, "I wish I could believe you."

"You could, perhaps, if you'd make me believe myself . . . What's that?" She threw back her head, listening. There had been a sound in the vines on the wall, or from the trees overhead, that must have been more than the wind sighing.

RODNEY said he had not heard anything. He said, "You see. Already you're trying to elude the issue at hand. Tomorrow it will be the same. It's taken me all my life even to make you announce our engagement. I wish I could make you . . ."
"I know I heard something,"

Connie said. "I wish I could believe you."

Suddenly there was a flash of blinding light. A voice said, "Hold it!" A man had slipped up the stairs toward them.

Connie interrupted. "Perhaps we should go back." She got to her feet. He jumped to his. He put his arms around her.

"Don't go—not quite yet," he pleaded. She did not resist him. Yet there was no response in her arms or on her lips.

Suddenly there was a loud report; a flash of blinding light. A voice said, "Hold it!" A man had slipped up the stairs toward them.

The man laughed. "I scaled the wall. Quite a feat, let me assure you, Miss Corby. But it was worth it."

"How did you get in here?" Connie asked sharply. She pushed Rodney away; her blue eyes smoldered.

"Rodney!" Connie whirled on him. "Aren't you going to do something?"
"What can I do?" Rodney gave her his slow smile.

"Oh, come now! You wouldn't have him do that, Miss Corby." Nevertheless the cameraman began to edge away.

"Wouldn't it? Nothing would give me more pleasure. We posed a dozen or more times, gave out interviews so that you'd let us alone . . . Can't a person have any privacy at any time any where?"

"Not when she's the richest girl in the world, Miss Corby." The cameraman laughed again, said he was sorry. He put his hand on the wall. He could hoist himself over it, manage the sheer drop to the beach; but how he ever had scaled it, especially keeping his camera intact, remained a puzzle. "Aren't you going to do something?" Connie demanded of Rodney once more.

HE did not seem to resent the intrusion. "Oh, let the fellow

HEALTH OFFICER SOUNDS NEW WARNING ON 'COMMON COLDS'

"During the last few weeks, Orange county has been in the throes of its annual epidemic of respiratory infections—or 'colds,' in common parlance."

This was the statement today of Dr. K. H. Sutherland, Orange county health officer, who said "colds, or respiratory infections, in the aggregate cause more loss of time and more illness than any of our communicable diseases and yet, because they are 'common,' they too often are accepted as a matter of course and too little is done to prevent their spread."

Warnings of Pneumonia
"It is true that public health laws contain no provision for quarantining colds and yet, each of us should be public-spirited enough to stay isolated during the infectious stage and not peddle our illness to friends and those we contact in daily routine. The sick person, too, benefits greatly by isolating himself at home and in bed, since physical rest, along with such medication as is suggested by the doctor, is very important in affecting a cure."

"A cold not properly cared for may easily develop into pneumonia and it may be surprising to some people to know that pneumonia is the third highest cause of death in Orange county, being surpassed only by heart disease and cancer."

Parental Co-operation
"It is very important that children with acute colds be kept at home and not sent to school. Officials of the health department urge every parent to isolate at home every child with a running nose, red or inflamed eyes, sore or inflamed throat, new cough, fever, earache or ear discharge, nausea or vomiting, swelling or tenderness of the glands of the neck, or with

ISLE SO SALTY SAN FRANCISCO FAIR IS TAXED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—The creators of Treasure Island, the man-made island of San Francisco bay, which is to serve as the site of the 1939 Golden Gate and International exposition, have been confronted with a new problem by the discovery of the fact that the island is too salty.

With the present salt content of the island soil which was dug from the bottom of the bay, ordinary plant life will not grow on it, and the exposition officials have some $1,500,000 to spend landscaping and beautifying the island with plants, flowers, shrubs and trees.

Engineering science, however, promises to overcome the obstacle. To begin with, two hundred shallow wells will be sunk to "de-water" the island. By pumping out the excess water, it is estimated the saline part of the soil will be cut down from 5000 to 1000 parts in a million.

The second step will then be to reduce further the salinity of the soil by applying six to nine inches of fresh water. This, it is estimated, will reduce the chlorine content to 100 parts.

According to the horticulturist specialists, about 90 per cent of the desired plant life on the island will grow in this degree of soil salinity. For those that will not, special fertilizers will be used.

DIARY DEPICTS EARLY SETTLER

LORAIN, O., Jan. 7.—(UP)—Old documents that painted in word-pictures the history of Lorain county were a feature of the exhibit in connection with the Northwest Territory book week.

The book week was part of the celebration of the 150th anniversary of establishment of Northwest Territory. Also linked with the anniversary is the trek of the modern pioneers from Ipswich, Mass., to Marietta, O.—a re-enactment of the journey made by their forefathers.

The diary of a Lorain county settler of 1821 was one of the historic documents displayed at the library. Some typical entries:

Dec. 3, 1822: "William went after father. Plastered the house with clay."

Nov. 25, 1823: "D. and B. did little work at the barn, but feasted on cake and chicken on Thanksgiving day."

The diary is preserved only in part and there are no identifying names in it. The author and his friends, according to the diary, went hunting, split rails, made candles and did other daily chores.

Another paper in the exhibit refers to the "peace and safety of the North Western Frontier." Deeds to pieces of property were sealed simply by writing the word "seal," and encircling it with a wavy line.

IT PAYS

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

FOR THE FUTURE

"How shall I train my children for the future?" That question is asked by every father and mother in the world. What can be done to insure that the children will find themselves fit and able to make their way successfully in the lifetime ahead of them?

There is nobody wise enough to say. The future is a secret. Life is a process of change. The work that one generation found useful and necessary is not needed by the succeeding generation, or it has been altered by new discoveries so as to be almost unrecognizable. There are few philosophies that function as well today as in their own day, few industries and arts and sciences that have not changed greatly. Few of our customs and habits have not been altered. What has happened to us is likely to happen to the next generation. There is no certainty, save in death, and even that is questioned.

My experience with young people would teach me to help them to get as wide a culture, as rich a background, in the field of their gifts, as can be managed. If a child is scientifically minded give him all he can take in that field in the hope of equipping him with varied experiences that he can turn this way and that as need demands. If he is hand-minded, do the same. Keep his training as varied as possible and his culture as wide as his intelligence and experiences will allow.

The people who suffer during severe upheavals in the accustomed ways are those who are specialized, whose minds and bodies have been set in a fixed routine. The one whose mind and body have been kept flexible, ready to make adjustments, take in new ideas and make new motions, does not suffer as much.

What about the great group of those who have no particular bent? Those who cannot get beyond the grade set by law as the minimum? What about those who cannot learn a trade, or a profession, or specialize in even the easiest form of labor? They have to be trained and fitted into the working scheme.

The public schools should put more power and thought on teaching children to be useful and self-helpful than they do. When we find a child who shows clearly his incapacity for book lessons, instead of making his life miserable with drills and tests and special instruction in the work he cannot do it would be better to let him do the minimum book work he can do and devote his time to learning useful occupations.

And here I would like to ask that every big city and town in the country set aside schools to train municipal workers. Teach Sanitation and train the staff from sweepers to department heads. Teach Public Health and train the staff from visiting nurses to medical chiefs. Lift public service to a dignified efficiency by making the holding of any public office or place dependent upon a diploma issued by a city-owned school.

That would take care of young people who cannot find their way alone. The rest will be taken up by industry, institutions, private employers and charities. Meantime, make all education in the lower schools rich in experiences. The book-workers can take care of themselves because society provides well for them. It is time to lift the curse of the others and make room for them.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, self-

New Mail Routes Planned for S. A.

Plans for increased efficiency in mail deliveries in this city were announced today by Postmaster Frank Harwood who said that on January 12 an auxiliary route would be added to the 26 regular routes now serving the city.

The auxiliary route, Harwood said, will be operated for a six-month probation period before becoming a permanent part of the city's mail delivery system.

Installation of the new route will make a complete revision of all city routes necessary, Harwood said. Portions of every route in the city will be removed and added to the new route.

mond bracelets that she could not remove. So she summoned Margarette Royce, her wardrobe girl, and asked her opinion. Margarette liked one certain bracelet—and went into such ecstasies of admiration that Sonja, giving way to a sudden impulse, bought it and, then and there, presented it to Margarette. Then she turned to the jeweler. "I'm sorry," she said, "I will not be able to afford anything else today."

Warner Brothers ought to quit gilding the lily by trumping up new—and always wilder—stories of Errol Flynn's adventures. Every publicity dispatch from his studio credits the tireless Mr. Flynn with some new, imagination-staggering feat of prowess. I am perfectly willing to believe that Errol conquered all the cannibals of Papua single-handed and he cowed man-eating tigers with a glance of his Irish eyes and that he was the real leader of the Bounty Mt. 'ny. But some of the tales that are being concocted by Warner Brothers' publicity lads are too, too much.

It is not true, as charged, that Porter Hall is niggardly. He explains that he seldom carries currency because he has played crooks in so many Paramount pictures that he is afraid to trust himself with his own money.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 7.—Honoring Mrs. Viola Pimelot on her birthday anniversary Miss Pauline Greer entertained at a party at her home at 224 Spring-ford avenue this week. A large birthday cake with burning candles was cut and served with ice cream. Fortune telling caused much merriment and games were played.

Those enjoying the evening were the honoree, Frances King, Doris Puckett, Belva Shearer, June King, Carrie Cowling, Jerry King, Betty Puckett, Gwendolyn Singletary and the hostess.

CHAPTER XVIII

"WELL"—Barry laughed—"as a matter of fact, that plane dropped into my lap just as I was scrambling ashore and trying to shake the Caribbean out of my ears and eyes. The pilot, who was the manager of a chain of Gorman coffee plantations, noticed my ship in the waves, and came down to reconnoiter."

"As I don't speak much German, and his English wasn't any too fluent, it wasn't easy to make him see just how badly I needed his plane. But he finally did get the idea. I dropped him at one of his plantations, refueled, and stocked up with provisions, and hopped along. Fortunately the plane had a radio—"

Barry was obviously very tired, and they finally let him go.

When it was over, old Miranda blew her nose vigorously three times before she said, "Well, I suppose we'd better get on getting another Christmas tree set up. He ought to be here about day after tomorrow. . . . We're going to be busy."

BARRY'S broadcast proved a real nuisance in the end. The airport and several friends had called to deliver his message almost before the radio was turned off that night. Next day they were flooded with telephone calls and visitors. Miss Chattam was one of the first.

"Well," she said to Linda, "you and Barry have given this town a surprise. Of course, I guessed there was something in the air. . . . But I must say, Miranda," her pale, gimlet eyes probed old Miranda's face—"you are a mastermind to keep a secret."

"After all," she said tartly, "if my husband and his wife thought it better not to make any announcement until his return, I fail to see why the whole town should be concerned."

"Rita Blanchard had a telegram inviting her to Florida this morning," Miss Chattam ran on with apparent irrelevance. "Well, I guess she needs a trip. She didn't look any too brisk when I saw her at the postoffice this morning. . . . By the way, Miranda, how are you going to announce the marriage?"

"I should say," replied Barry's grandmother dryly, "considering the airing the whole episode seems to be getting the only competition we could offer would be the daily

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—(UP)—Prices reacted on the stock exchange today when profit-taking was attracted by three days of advance. Trading was around yesterday's level.

Business news appeared favorable. However, the week under review compared with the holiday week, which distorted the picture. Some reports said Pittsburgh Steel mills added a few thousand men that had been laid off, and a slight improvement was noted in the operating rate. Steel centers in other sections also held their own.

Westinghouse Electric reported unfilled orders as of the end of 1937 at $65,000,000, against $48,000,000 at the end of 1936. The company anticipates large orders this year from the electrical industry which in many instances is using its plants at full capacity and needs replacements and expansion.

DRIVE CAREFULLY -SAVE A LIFE-

A PECULIAR RACE

There was an old song during the World War with one verse which began, "The French, they are a peculiar race, parley-vo!"

They are, indeed. Here is the minister of justice in Paris who went on a short inspection tour of a "short-term penitentiary." After an affectionate holiday speech to the prisoners, the minister picked out one and kissed him soundly on both cheeks as the cameras clicked.

Considerable progress has been made of late years in penology in America. But we are inclined to doubt that the practice will ever be adopted here of having an American attorney general or even a G-man go out at Christmas-time to kiss a few prisoners. Babies, perhaps, but not prisoners.

Besides, the Constitution forbids. It says that "cruel and unusual punishment" shall not be inflicted.

RATE INCREASE VITAL

The railroads of the United States today are confronted with a situation so critical that an immediate increase in freight rates and passenger fares is essential. That is the gist of an unprecedented motion filed by the carriers before the Interstate Commerce Commission in the course of the hearings for rate increases now being held in Washington.

If the railroads are permitted to put rate increases into immediate effect (increases which could be reduced or eliminated if the ICC found them unjustified when the hearing is concluded) the lines could meet their immediate obligations. Bankruptcies that are inevitable under present conditions would be prevented. And expenditures for bettering and replacing plant and equipment would be made.

The railroad problem today is, almost incredibly, grave. The present recession has fallen upon the lines at a time when they were economically in the worst possible position to meet it. Granting of early rate increases seems not only justified by the facts, but definitely in the interest of the public as well.

RED HERRING

In another bid for publicity Supervisor N. E. West, in an address before a small audience, charged that Orange county is ruled by a "phantom government."

Vague charges of mismanagement of public affairs, favoritism in awarding contracts for county business and other insinuations were embodied in the address designed for one apparent purpose—stir up more trouble in the county. West probably knew that his audience would be small but his purpose was accomplished. His statements were seized upon and broadcast without verification—result more publicity for the "Savior of the County."

The majority of people of the county know that there is no "phantom government." They know that the majority of elective and appointive officials, are honest, upright men who are striving to serve the best interests of the county in spite of stumbling blocks placed in their paths by lawmakers of the county.

At the same time they realize that the best method of diverting the chase when it becomes too hot is to draw a red herring across the trail. When the hounds start fighting the fox generally escapes—but not always.

A DEATHLESS HERITAGE

There are times when something occurs that seems to touch everyone in a community, that those old sayings of our forebears, leap from the classification of clichés accorded them by a restless generation, and seem to be invested with a new and deep meaning.

"Death loves a shining mark" is one of these, for it immediately leaps to mind when one considers the untimely passing of one like Mrs. Sidney Lowry, the former Janey Wilde. For there are few Santa Ana residents who have not at some time come within the friendly atmosphere with which Mrs. Lowry surrounded her work in the city engineer's office.

It was in her early girlhood that Janey Wilde entered upon the work which has claimed her attention ever since August of 1922. In those intervening years she has served her city so faithfully and so cheerfully, that it seems that no one could ever take her place. Working under Edward Dahl when he was street superintendent of the city, she continued her duties under City Engineer William G. Knox when the departments were merged.

In any change arising in city administration, it was a foregone conclusion that her complete knowledge of the work should make her a valuable asset to the office, so she continued in one of the city's most responsible posts, under Nat H. Neff, under Clyde L. Jenken, under DeWitt Dudley, and under J. L. McBride, the present city engineer. Even her marriage a few years ago to Sidney Lowry, a member of the department, was not permitted to interfere with the duties which had become second nature to her.

So she remained at her desk—efficient, poised and unfailingly courteous and helpful to the hundreds of Santa Anans who passed in a steady stream with their problems, their requests, their complaints and the thousand and one items that bring us all at some time

CONTROLLED PROFITS

If the industrialists could control profits, as Rugg contends in volume six, page 240, it is strange that some 90 per cent of the industrialists go broke.

In one year, Henry Ford's surpluses dropped $70,000,000. For several years his profits have been less than one per cent on his investment. If the big industrialists can control profits, it is strange that they have such losses and such low profits.

How the big industrialists can compel the consuming public to buy in order to make them a profit has never been discovered by any industrialist. Because some theoretical educators, who have never had experience in the competitive basis, claim they can control profits, in no way makes it so. It just shows how little a theoretical educator can know about the actual world around him. As long as they can sell wish-pictures in text-books, which teach the doctrine of Santa Claus, envy and hate, they are perfectly satisfied to make no effort to find the truth.

It is beliefs like this that have caused restrictive laws that resulted in the worst depression in our history, lasting eight years, with an average of better than 10,000,000 people out of work each year.

How long will we have to go through depressions of this kind before it might occur to some of the educators that there are certain fundamental laws in economics that cannot be violated by wishes and that we owe it to our children to teach these laws as well as fairy tales?

CONFERENCE ON CAUSE AND CURE OF WAR

On January 19 the women's organizations throughout the nation will convene in Washington for the purpose of exchanging ideas as to the best possible way of ascertaining the cause and cure of wars.

The idea of attempting to find the cause certainly is the place to start as there can be no cure until they attempt to correct the primary causes of war. Any attempt to change a condition that is not the primary cause of war, probably will do more harm than good.

People, of course, fight because they believe, rightly or wrongly, that they are not receiving justice. And one of the primary causes of injustice is for some group or nation to collectively take possession of natural resources and refuse to permit these natural resources to be exchanged on their natural exchange value. That is to build a tariff wall around the nation and require those people who are desirous of these natural resources to pay for the right of sending goods into the country, to pay for these natural resources.

This, of course, causes those nations that do not have these resources to remain in greater poverty than they should. It causes unnecessary suffering and misery and when this condition gets too strenuous they are willing to enter into war and the serious results of war in order to attempt to correct these injustices. So tariff walls are probably one of the most fundamental causes of war.

Closely allied to the tariff as a cause of war, is the immigration laws that prevent people from entering the territory with natural resources and compels them to remain outside and pay the tariff to get these natural resources.

We hope the conference will make a thorough study of the primary causes of war and not take some superficial action.

BLOCKING EFFORTS

The President in his speech contends that it is wrongful business practices for an industry to move to another location in order to secure lower wages.

It makes no difference to the President whether the wages are arbitrary in the old location or whether the cost of living is lower in the new—it is unethical business for a business concern to attempt to reduce its cost so that it can sell more for less money, to move its place of business.

Evidently Mr. Roosevelt's idea of the purpose of business is to work for the employees instead of the customers. The customers seem to have no right in Mr. Roosevelt's idea.

He reasons it is blocking the progress of society to let wages take their natural level in communities where the cost of living is less than where it is higher.

The President gives collective bargaining credit for raising wages, but they did not stay raised. The hours were reduced so that the yearly wages in the long run were less as a result of collective bargaining.

He seems to think that the majority at the polls voted for higher wages and the government can give the people what they vote for; that economic laws can be suspended and wages can be set by majority rule.

He argues that if you increase the purchasing power of the farmers and the workers, it will increase the purchasing power of the other group. The Townsend people use a similar argument. This is not true, if the increased purchasing power of the farmers and workers is not the result of increased production, but is the result of artificially transferring from one to the other. We have tried this for five years and it has not proved to be effective.

Useful Work

The President continues very strongly opposed to the dole and argues that it is much better to furnish work. But he fails to define what useful work is. Work is not useful unless it pays what it costs and the government is certainly not furnishing useful work. The government has prevented useful work from being done because it is maintaining artificial wages for the kind of work that it is having done.

Seven Billions

The President has frankly confessed that the Federal Government will need an annual income of $7,000,000,000. This is certainly a great increase over the past.

during the year, into the city engineer's office.

Hers was an untimely passing, but her spirit, her cheerfulness, her personality, and above all her splendid courage, form a deathless heritage which she leaves her friends.

The Figure Skater

General Hugh S. JOHNSON Says

WASHINGTON, D. C.—There are certain books that have become regular texts or bibles of the radical end of the Third New Deal.

Generally speaking, I find them filled with inaccurate and, frequently, flagrantly false statements. Invariably they are outright attacks on the capitalist system. Prominent among their methods is a deliberate attempt to discredit individuals who have some public standing by reason of past public service. Throughout they are inflammatory appeals to what the President recently condemned as class-consciousness. They are in all things consistent with Communist manuals on approved methods for discrediting bourgeois government and inciting to proletarian revolution.

Outstanding among these are the cleverly written books of David Cushman Coyle—who appears from his writings to be a bitter and disappointed misanthrope. One recently published into public notice by the Jackson and Ickes speeches is a 500-page diatribe by Ferdinand Lundberg on the now famous but mythical 60 families.

The usual reaction of the people and institutions attacked is to say: "Why bother about such false and extreme nonsense? It carries its own condemnation on its face." The disposition of the average publicist is to say: "These people are only seeking publicity for the purpose of their business. Why give it to them by noticing their stuff?"

That may be right, but this is the source material for nearly all the speeches and tons of the propaganda of the Third New Deal. Not through these books, but through the translation of what is in them into all kinds of important utterances from the top down, this political and economic earth is permeating our intellectual life like the seepage from a broken sewer.

For that reason these publications deserve careful and systematic checking and answering. No commentator with two deadlines a day could possibly do that or do more than to pick up fragments of falsity in his personal knowledge. Some writer with more leisure ought to attend to this and if it causes debate and publicity, it will be good for both sides of the argument, but far better for the truth.

Here is a sample from "America's 60 Families," proof of the falsity of which might be an interesting bit of political history. Referring to the fourth ballot nomination of Roosevelt in the 1932 Chicago convention, this is said: "Alfred E. Smith, in concert with John J. Raskob, Bernard M. Baruch and Hugh S. Johnson, tried to procure the nomination for Newton D. Baker . . . but the Smith-DuPont-Morgan forces were unsuccessful." This is a whole cloth lie. Yet, it was repeated twice in different words by the most radical of the Third New Deal commentators.

Mr. Baruch was not for any pre-convention candidate. He had had his fingers burned in the Smith-McAdoo imbroglio. I didn't count. But we were both opposed to Mr. Baker's nomination.

Between the third and fourth ballot, Baruch and others, including Herbert Swope (who alone in the group wore a big Al Smith button) were sitting in a room in the Blackstone hotel when Mr. Hearst telephoned Baruch from San Simon.

"Is the rumor I hear true, that Al Smith is trying to break the next ballot for Baker?"

Al Smith had refused to make any statement whatever. Swope undertook to have it out with Al. It was then agreed to call Mr. Hearst back. Swope went to the Congress hotel and found Al sitting glumly sucking a dead cigar. To Swope's question, three times repeated: "Al, are you pulling to throw this thing to Baker?", there was no answer—not even the twitching of a muscle. Silently, Swope took off his Al Smith badge, laid it on the Governor's desk, then came back to the Blackstone.

Mr. Hearst was called and informed. Within half an hour, Mr. Garner and Mr. McAdoo heard from San Simon. Instead of the break against Roosevelt that had been certain on the fourth ballot California and Texas went for him and the convention stampeded.

Editor, Register:

When the President assumed office he announced that it was his purpose to restore prosperity by policies that would have to be developed by experimentation; and that when plans so tried proved unsuccessful he would be the first to discard them. Among the plans tried was inflation, the extent of which may be found in a table on page 292 of the 1937 World Almanac. This table shows that our total stock of money was doubled between 1929 and 1936 when it reached over seven billion dollars. This increase the President calls deflation though there had been no deflation between 1929 and his election.

Most of this increase in our money stock was effected by devaluation which was done by raising the price of gold from $20 to $35 per ounce, and buying it without limit. This high price brought us most of the world's supply of gold which is said to be buried and out of use in Kentucky. And our currency which we paid to foreigners for this gold was invested by them in American securities, the cancellation of debts owing us, and for American real estate and business.

Moreover, this high price stimulated new production of gold all over the world, the amount of such production having risen 53 per cent between 1933 and 1935 being over one billion dollars in 1935.

Inflation also obstructs future enterprise. For new housing and plant extensions are financed in most part with credit which cannot be had of private lenders who fear repayment in money that has been cheapened by inflation. The present inflation also disturbed the equities that existed between creditors and debtors, which it did by reducing the gold content of the dollar, thereby reducing its value.

Another of the President's plans is the fostering of union labor by which he apparently hopes to unionize all wage workers for the purpose of investing them with power for imposing their demands upon employers.

Another is the Wage and Hour bill whose purpose it is to raise wages and shorten hours.

These last two plans obviously are based upon the assumption that all labor, generally, is underpaid and that capital when too weak to meet the wage standards that are set up by union labor and the government has no right to exist, this sort of capital being owned in most part by little business, including farmers who do their own work, but are coming to be compelled to hire union labor that they do not need in many localities.

Despite a vigorous prosecution by the President of his policies we find ourselves shoved back into a new depression, the cause of which he has not explained in his messages to Congress and which he probably does not understand.

We, The People

By JAY FRANKLIN

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "What are we going to do with people like that?"

The exasperated questioner was an important new dealer. His "people like that" were the leaders of the building materials industries whom the government had requested to hold the price of construction goods steady during the next year, in order to make possible a national housing program. When told that that was what the corresponding British business interests had done, they laughed long and heartily. "Not on your life!" was their answer. "Either the government will contract with us now for a year's output at present prices or we shall charge whatever the traffic will bear." So dies another noble experiment in substituting social patriotism and economic co-operation for the "profit motive" in meeting a major national necessity.

Here is one of the tap-roots of both monopoly and socialism. No large-scale enterprise dares commit itself to a production program so long as its purchases of raw and semi-finished materials are exposed to the philosophy of what the traffic will bear. As a result, business after big business has acquired its own sources of supply, its own retail outlets, and has substituted administrative salaries and industrial planning for the operations of the private profiteer.

In the same way, as national economic programs become socially necessary, the government is compelled to follow the same path and to free itself by law from the catch-as-catch-can opportunism of the business men and industries which supply the goods and services.

The problem is, therefore, a mat-

QUEER ERUPTIONS MAY RESULT FROM SKIN SENSITIVITY, TO MANY DRUG SUBSTANCES

More and more as we learn about the peculiar reactions of the human being to various unusual conditions and substances, extraordinary cases appear.

For instance, the human being may be sensitive to drug substances and respond with queer eruptions. Some people have these invariably after they take quinine, some after aspirin, some after iodine, some after various laxatives which contain phenolphthalein.

Cases have also been reported of such sensitivities to various local anesthetic substances which are derivatives of cocaine or of salicylic acid.

A recent report tells of a man who was given an injection of a new remedy for syphilis. In order to make the injection painless a certain amount of local anesthetic had been combined with the remedy. This local anesthetic contained some salicylic acid.

Shortly after the injection the patient developed a large eruption around the place at which the injection had been made. Although he feared that the eruption was a part of his disease, it turned out after careful study that he was sensitive to salicylic acid and that the eruption was a reaction of the skin due to that sensitivity.

Another interesting case was that of a woman who developed an intense, itching eruption on her scalp which lasted for more than two years.

She had long hair which she put up in a so-called "psyche" knot on top of her head, holding the hair in place with from 25 to 35 lacquered hairpins, many of which touched the inflamed area.

She also wore some of these lacquered hairpins on the side of the head and at the points where these lacquered hairpins touched there had developed a similar eruption.

When the physicians became suspicious of the hairpins, they took some of the lacquer and used it in making a so-called patch test of the skin.

They found promptly that the patient reacted to the lacquer from the pins. Then she was instructed to substitute bone hairpins for the steel ones. Within a week after getting rid of the lacquer pins, the itching stopped and the inflammation began to heal.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1937 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. — President Roosevelt apparently has no firm belief that his new program is going to revive business very much within the next 18 months.

His own budget, sent to Congress the other day, contained obscure but definite and detailed business guesses which were far from optimistic for the year beginning next June 30.

Various business activities were estimated to be off anywhere from six per cent for amusements down to 28 per cent for autos. Average decrease from the present June to June year was forecast about 12 per cent.

The government is congenitally optimistic in statements on future business. In estimating future tax collections, however, it is governed more by pride in accuracy. Of course it has been away off in the past. It failed to anticipate the current depression. It may be just as far wrong in this guess.

But for better or worse, here is what the President told Congress he expected business to do in the year beginning next year as compared with the present June-to-June year. (Estimates were actually made for him by the treasury economic bureau.)

Corporation income—off 15 per cent (assuming continuance of existing law).

Individual income—off 7 per cent. Alcoholic beverages—off 8 per cent.

Radios—off 12 per cent. Cigars—off 14 per cent. Mechanical refrigerators—off 7 per cent.

Autos—off 28 per cent. Trucks—off 4 per cent. Telephone, telegraph, radios—off 9 per cent.

Amusements—off 6 per cent. Electrical energy—up 2 per cent (view of new power development).

Stock transfers—up 2 per cent (in anticipation of more active purchase of securities).

Note: The President personally must have thought these estimates were slightly on the pessimistic side. He mentioned in the budget messages that they were "conservative," meaning, of course, from the treasury revenue standpoint.

A congressman who knows the Supreme Court as intimately as anyone inspired the current reports that another justice will quit before June. He did not name the man but court rail sitters are guessing it will be Justice McReynolds who appears to be unhappy in his present surroundings.

ter of taking care of certain people who see no more reason to forego a possible profit at public expense than to forego any other kind of profit for some vague moral reason. In the Soviet Union, they shoot such men. In Germany and Italy, they make them join the party and then "co-ordinate" their independent power out of existence. We are rich enough and tolerant enough to handle the problem of economic sedition and social sabotage on a more humorous basis.

There are said to be "sixty families" which own America. Let's assume that there are six hundred individuals who are involved in the present price-raising insurance. We could afford to set aside one per cent of our national income and pay each of these six hundred men a million dollars a year apiece, tax-free, and to take over their enterprises. This form of nationalization would be quite simple.

We could set aside certain areas as "reservations" for the economic scalping-parties—the eastern end of Long Island, the Maine Coast and Southern Florida leap to mind. These areas could be surrounded by electrified barbed wire and patrolled by armed guards ON THE INSIDE, so as to perpetuate the inmates' illusion that they are simply trying to be exclusive and safe. Each day, the 600 could travel, if they chose, by train, plane

Justice Sutherland's privately expressed reason for retiring was that he could not keep up his share of the work because of his health. He was working 10 hours a day. Weeks ago his friends let it be known he planned to retire at the end of the session. Only thing unexpected was his decision to do it at once.

The fact that only one important New Deal case is yet pending (electric bond and share test of the holding companies act) explains his haste.

Note: Kindly and fair Justice Sutherland held back for 10 minutes two news reporters to whom he had given the announcement of his resignation, until a third reporter could come over from the Capitol and save himself from being scooped.

The whooped up doctrine that a man is obsolete at 70 apparently has been forgotten along with the Supreme Court fight. Now comes the realization that it isn't the age of a man, but the man.

First to shake the hand of Senator Carter Glass on his 80th birthday was Rep. Ed Taylor who will be 80 in June. Glass is chairman of Senate appropriations, Taylor of House appropriations. Together they control the most tedious and important phase of government.

Glass at 80 is a sarcastic anti-New Dealer; Taylor at 80 a leading table thumper for the President's big navy, although he comes from the highest and driest district in the Union. (If all the water of Taylor's home in western Colorado were collected in one pool, it would float a blueprint, much less a cruiser, but he will fight if you question the advisability of building new ships).

No general attention was paid to a recent minority opinion by Justice Black, but the Supreme Court justices noted it well.

Black took opportunity of the Indianapolis water case to disagree with the entire court, and to tell what he thinks of it. His dissent sounded like one of his Senate speeches, condemning the old court doctrine that the federal government has no right to interfere with a state in fixing water rates.

This was his first state case. On federal cases involving laws upon which he voted in Congress, he has been concurring with the court. Ordinarily justices may refrain from voting on cases involving laws they helped to pass as congressmen, but Black has been voting, although his vote made no difference.

and yacht, under guard, to the southern tip of Manhattan. There they could sit in beautiful offices, furnished at public expense, and have fun sending telegrams to men in distant cities, great factories, foreign countries, etc. "Buy this!" "Sell that!" "Shut down the works!" "Hire strike-breakers!" "Pass dividends!" and so on.

This could be developed into as great and beautiful a game as professional football. All their messages would be answered, saying that their will had been done, and they themselves could be surrounded with the soothing trained attendants appropriate to lunatics and multimillionaires, men who would always say "Yes!" and always serve as a well-padded cell against reality. They could read "newspapers" specially written and edited for them, to prove that they are being obeyed and are always right. For excitement, they could operate their own gambling casino, call it the Stock Exchange, and play for assignments of each other's income, with the tacit understanding that anyone who went broke would be exiled to the United States. (John Collier, head of the Indian Bureau, could run the show.) And in the meantime, the government, the technicians and the real industrial managers could operate business in the public interest.
